STOCKS OPEN STRONG

MARKET HOLDING STEADY

Runs on Some New York Banks Continue, but Demands Are Being Met.

"CRISIS IS PAST"—MORGAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—American stocks made remarkable gains in London to-day. Advances of from one to four points were noted along the entire list.

This showing of strength and confidence on the part of the British buying public greatly encouraged the market, which opened strong.

Early trading was irregular, but the general tone was firm, showing a growing confidence.

There was but one suspension reported to-day that of the Terminal Bank of 81 Sand street, Brooklyn. This institution was a depository of the Williamsburg Trust Company and no significance is attached to its closing. On the other hand runs on the Trust Company of America, the Lincoln Trust Company and other banks, which were in full force yesterday, have practically ceased.

"FIGHT IS WON," SAYS MORGAN.

"The flurry is over," declares prominent financiers to-day. J. Pierpont Morgan, who was the leading figure in the fight to relieve the financial strain, although suffering from a severe cold, was at his office at the usual hour to-day, intently watching developments in Wall street.

"The fight is practically won," Mr. Morgan said. Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou echoed this opinion. Other banks took the same view.

FEW DEPOSITORS IN LINE.

Although there is a small run on at the Nassau Trust Company, Broadway and Bedford avenue, Williamsburg, things generally are quiet around the financial section of the eastern district.

The Nassau Trust Company depositors began gathering early, and when the time for opening came there were 150 or 200 in line waiting to withdraw their money. The Nassau Company has a paid up capital of $500,000 with total resources amounting to over ten million dollars.

Everything is quiet around the doors of the suspended First National and the Williamsburg and Jenkins Trust Company and the Trust Company of America, the Lincoln Trust Company and other local banks have stopped.

CART GOLD AWAY IN TRUCKS.

The subtreasury continued, under the direction of Secretary of the Treasury George B. Cortelyou, to pour streams of cash into the banks. Trucks and wagons backed up at the sub-treasury to-day and carted away gold, silver and treasury notes.

One truck carried away 100 bags containing $1,000 each, which was sent to a Brooklyn bank. There was received from Washington $10,000,000 in bills of small denominations, from which there has been great demand.

The stock market showed decided gains at the opening.

The saving banks were amply protected to-day throughout the adoption of the 60 days' clause governing withdrawal of deposits. The notice was exacted on all accounts exceeding $50.

Millions in gold are being brought from London to help. The National City Bank expects to get $5,000,000 in the metal on hand Monday morning. Another institution expects to receive a million in gold from London some time during next week.

The Clearing House is lending every effort to meet the exigency by the use of Clearing House certificates, which, it is believed will greatly relieve the strain caused by the shortness of available currency. These certificates will not be used by the banks in settlement of their balances at the Clearing House and do not appear in general circulation.

With securities worth 100 cents on the dollar and in volume representing many hundreds of millions in the vaults and trust companies here and elsewhere, men eminent in finance feel the utmost confidence that things will right themselves very shortly.

INDUSTRIAL TRUST CO. IN PROVIDENCE ASKS 90 DAYS NOTICE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 26.—When 300 depositors of the Industrial Trust Company gathered about the doors of the two branches of the institution this morning,

A Word to the Thoughtless

The following statement has been issued in New York by William Randolph Hearst, the editor of this newspaper. Fortunately, there is no run on any bank in Boston, and conditions are such that there is no likelihood of a run:

To the wise no word is necessary. Men of knowledge understand full well that the country was never more prosperous, and that a panic in the midst of such unexampled industrial and commercial activity as this nation has recently enjoyed, and still enjoys, is a grotesque absurdity.

The reasoning of those persons who are now participating in runs upon perfectly solvent banking institutions is on a par with that of those citizens who think they need have no concern about the conduct of government because they merely pay rent.

The informed man knows that those who pay rent are as much taxpayers as those who own the houses in which they live. Their concern with government is equally as great as that of the property owner.

Likewise the man who draws money from a perfectly solvent bank in such a time as this, instead of protecting himself, may be promoting his own undoing.

Credit is the life-blood of business. If banks fail business will totter. If business is wrecked employment will cease. And what will it profit a man if he get his small hoard from a bank at the price of his business or of his job?

Think of this before you join a line of the panic-stricken.

'DON'T WORRY, COUNTRY'S O. K.' SAYS CARNEGIE

"Nothing Can Stop the Republic; This Is Only a Flurry," Declares Steelmaster.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Andrew Carnegie arrived in New York on the steamer Baltic this morning. He issued this statement to reporters:

"Delighted to read the good news this morning. Surprised that the fall in stocks has been so small. This proves that the situation is not alarming and that the country is O. K. Investors have only to hold on.

"The prompt issue of the certificates will bring everything all right. The financial authorities have acted boldly, but wisely, and the flurry will soon blow over. It is quite right for the savings banks to refuse notice. It should not be forgotten, however, that we have had the greatest fate reaction must come and has already come, and it will be helpful. We may have a season of less activity in trade, but that will be followed in due time by another period of expansion.

"Nothing can prevent the rapid progress of the republic. She is all right and sound to distance all competitors in the race. Speculation will be less to the front for a time, but general business will not suffer seriously."

Mr. Carnegie was told that the Westinghouse Company had gone into the hands of a receiver.

"I know that," he said, "and I am sorry, very, very sorry. Westinghouse is a genius. He is a wonderful man and has done great good for the country. What he needs is a sound, conservative financial man."

"How about the Pittsburg stock exchange being closed for four days?"

"Oh, Pittsburg is all right. I am sorry to hear about the exchange being closed, but all Pittsburg needs to do is to keep up nerve and everything will come out all right."

4,407,055 BALES GINNED THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The Census Bureau announced to-day that complete returns from the ginneries show that the total number of bales of cotton ginned to October 18 was 4,407, 055, as compared with 4,031,621 last year up to the same date. The number of active ginneries reporting this year is 24,934, as compared with 26,125 last year.

DEER ISLAND WORKMEN IN FINANCE PROBE

COMMISSION IS BUSY INVESTIGATING WORK DONE BY SENATOR LINEHANS COMPANY.

The Finance Commission issued to-day a statement regarding its investigation of the way the Atlas Construction Company is executing its contract for building a boundary wall for the city of Boston at Deer Island, but it said nothing about its sending a tug to that place last evening and bringing back Foreman Frank Sacherino and five workmen.

The tug was manned by constables, and it is said that they took the men, who were wanted by the commission as witnesses, into custody. When the tug landed them at the North End, they were taken to the Tremont building, where the commission sits, in conveyances found in waiting. Attorney Sughrue, inquirer for the commission, subjected the men to an examination lasting about two hours.

Linehan Is Indignant.

Senator Frank Linehan is indignant at the methods of the commission in looking into the Atlas Company's affairs. Yesterday he tried to get from Judge Murray of the Municipal Court a warrant for the arrest of Clerk Farley of the Finance Commission, whom he charged with trespass.

The commission's statement to the public about the matter is as follows:

"The Finance Commission was in continuous session Friday from 2 in the afternoon until late in the evening investigating the performance of the contract for the boundary wall at Deer Island. The commission studied the contracts, estimates, bills, etc., and interrogated a number of city employes upon the subject, including Mr. Howe, and Mr. Hughes of the city engineer's office. They also received a letter from Commissioner Martin on the subject.

"Mr. Eddy, an engineer in the employ of the commission, told the commission what he knew about the affair, and the statements previously made by Mr. Linehan and the foreman, Mr. Collins, were read to the commission. At one stage of the proceedings Mr. Linehan, Mr. Conroy, Mr. Collins, the foreman of the Italian gang, and a number of Italian employes were heard. At Mr. Linehan's request he and Mr. Conroy were present when their employes were examined, and were permitted to ask such questions as they saw fit.

$6,000 for Superintending.

"The commission will probably address a communication to the Mayor upon the subject of this contract this forenoon."

Linehan's contract, which is for building a wall between the penal institution known as the Island and the sea sold to the government, calls for his payment on a basis of so much for material and labor, and further provides that this amount shall not exceed $51,500.

Linehan is allowed $6,000 under the terms of the contract, in addition to the sums paid for material and labor, as a compensation for superintending the work, use of capital and furnishing small tools for the job. The amount for material and labor is restricted to $45,500.

The city pays him $40 a week for a foreman; $3.50 a day for a sub-foreman; $2.50 a day for a dump sub-foreman; 50 cents an hour for engineers; $2.75 a day for drivers; 45 cents an hour for carpenters; 75 cents an hour for masons; 30 cents an hour for mason's tenders; 30 cents an hour for cement laborers; 25 cents an hour for common laborers; $5 a day for double teams and $3 a day for single teams.

Wanted Farley Arrested.

For the plant he is paid as follows: $300 for a lighter; $8 a day for each outfit of cars, railroad track and cable; $150 a month for a concrete mixer and engine; $5 a day for a portable derrick; $25 a day for transportation; $5 a day for a pump engine; $1.50 a day for boilers; $5 a day for pile drivers and 50 cents a day for hand pumps.

For material he receives 2¼ cents a pound for all steel used; $1.75 a barrel for cement; $2.25 a linear foot for granite coping; $27 per 1,000 feet for lumber, and $4.50 a ton for coal.

It was because Secretary Farley and experts from the Finance Commission visited his office in his absence to examine his books in investigating this contract that Linehan applied for a warrant for Farley's arrest for trespass.

The five men brought before the Finance Committee yesterday came up merely because I asked them to state the wages they were getting and to describe the work they were doing," said Senator Linehan. "They were summoned, when they arrived in Boston, as I had no charge of them after they got through work. They were not summoned at the island, but when they arrived in Boston."

FATALLY HURT BY FALL OF 45 FEET

Samuel Shubet, twenty-seven years old, living at No. 76 Phillips street, West End, was fatally injured about 9:30 a. m. to-day by falling from a five escape on which he was at work at No. 19 Newburn street, Roxbury. He fell to the ground, a distance of forty-five feet. He was removed to the City Hospital, where he is dying.

ARREST FOILS PLOT TO SLAY KING EDWARD

MAN UTTERS THREAT TO ACCOMPLISH HIS PURPOSE WHEN TAKEN INTO CUSTODY.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—A supposed plot to assassinate King Edward of England was uncovered through the arrest to-day of a man who gives his name as John Pearce. He was loitering near Sir Ernest Cassel's Chippenham Park residence, where the King has been shooting for a week.

"I was sent out to shoot a gentleman who comes here to kill game," said the prisoner, when arrested, "and I'm going to shoot him, too."

The man was remanded to Newmarket jail. An attempt was made to induce him to reveal the details of the plot and to give the names of his accomplices.

The Prince of Wales, who also shoots over the Chippenham Park preserves, was to have arrived shortly to spend next week.

IRISH LEAGUE LEADER HERE FOR BIG MEETING

NATIONAL PRESIDENT RYAN POINTS TO CRYING NEED OF INDUSTRIES IN IRELAND.

Michael J. Ryan, national president of the United Irish League of America, arrived at the South Station to-day at 7 a. m. on the Colonial Express from Philadelphia. Mr. Ryan was accompanied by his daughter Marie and his son James, the party proceeding to the Hotel Bellevue, where they were later joined by National Secretary John O'Callaghan of the League and Michael Maynes. Mr. Ryan speaks at the Hollis Street Theatre to-morrow night, and Tuesday at Lowell, after which he will return to Philadelphia. In speaking of his trip to this city Mr. Ryan said:

"I am here to speak in the interests of the United Irish League. The great object of our organization is to stem the tide of Irish immigration and to establish home rule for that English possession.

Million Leave Irish Shore.

"In the past twenty years 1,000,000 people have left the shores of Ireland, and the majority of the immigrants have come to this country. It has always been supposed that Boston has been the strongest Irish city in America, but this is not the case. St. Louis and Chicago and all the lake cities and towns are fast outstripping Boston in respect to citizens of Irish birth.

In respect to the conditions in the old country the fault has been found to be in the fact that England will not allow any industries there that will conflict with those of her other colonies, such as the raising of tobacco and other staples. About all there is to a ship building plant at Belfast, and there is also a small amount of linen manufactured.

"It is erroneous to imagine that Ireland can ever gain her freedom by force of arms as there is no arms to be had in Ireland, and the proximity to England would make the English channel alive with ships in a few days, and completely bottle up the Island possession.

Seek Irish Parliament.

"We hope by peaceful means to be allowed what every other English possession has gained with the exception of India. We want home rule and a parliament of our own and this is what is given to even the little Island of Manx in the English Channel.

"Although I do not know of the conditions in India I do know that even in this possession there is a great feeling of unrest and this does not speak well for the form of English rule. It is a well known fact that no people can be ruled successfully by alien governors."

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—A new record for ocean travellers is claimed by William H. Tweddell, who arrived to-day on the steamer Campania. He has crossed the Atlantic 223 times.

JOHN MITCHELL BETTER.

LASALLE, Ill., Oct. 26.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, is reported as out of any serious danger of relapse. Mr. Mitchell, himself, is positive that he will be fully recovered within a few weeks.

KING ALFONSO IS VICTIM OF WHITE PLAGUE

Royal Doctors Admit Dreaded Truth; Seeks Cure in England.

MADRID, Oct. 26.—Alfonso XIII. is doomed. Reports from the palace announce his condition as serious. He is suffering from tuberculosis, the hereditary scourge of his family, and he will be hurried to London as soon as examination by a noted specialist in the hope of warding off the dread disease.

When the report was made some months ago that the King had consumption, every effort was made to discredit it, but now the disease has made such inroads that further denial is useless. His pale face, listless manner and growing weakness all attest that he is in the grip of the malady.

Palace Physicians Alarmed.

The palace physicians have become greatly alarmed, and they are in daily consultation over his case, and it is on their advice that the young King is going to England.

Following the instructions given to the King's escort by his physicians, he will travel incognito as the Duke of Toledo, and every effort will be made to ensure him privacy and entire quiet, both going and returning.

During his youth and early manhood the open-air life led by Alfonso, and the horseback riding and compelled him to cease his habit of taking a cold plunge every morning.

While the King has been sinking the little Prince of the Asturias, heir to the throne, has been growing big and healthy, but all Spain is alarmed over the King's condition, and it is feared that the little one, too, will prove a victim of the dread disease.

CUT OUT FAST NEW YORK TRAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The New York, New Haven & Hartford will discontinue the Mayflower Express between New York and Boston, beginning next week, owing to lack of patronage, according to the official explanation. This is a five-hour train and leaves each terminal at 8 a. m. It is one of the fastest and best New York to Boston trains.

PRICES ARE KEPT HIGH BY TRUSTS

—THOMAS L. HISGEN

Scores of Women Applaud Independence League Candidate at Wakefield.

GUEST AT FIREMEN'S FAIR

Scores of women applauded Thomas L. Hisgen at Wakefield last evening, where he was an invited guest of the fair of the Volunteer Firemen. Mr. Hisgen made a brief address, in which he called attention to the high prices that prevail throughout the country and traced them to the action of the monopolists who had cornered also every necessary of life.

The large hall was crowded with the patrons of the fair when Mr. Hisgen entered, although he was pretty late on account of having appeared earlier in the evening at a Hyde Park rally.

On the way to Boston, after leaving the fair, Mr. Hisgen entered a car in which sat Henry M. Whitney, George A. Scholfield, who is running with Mr. Whitney as candidate for Lieutenant Governor, and John A. Sullivan. Mr. Whitney and his friends had been holding a rally at Haverhill. Mr. Hisgen and Mr. Whitney had never met and did not recognize each other.

Hisgen and Whitney Together.

Mr. Sullivan knew Mr. Hisgen, however, and asked him to meet Mr. Whitney. An introduction followed, and the two candidates for Governor sat in the same seat and chatted from Wakefield into the North Station.

"I think," said Mr. Whitney, at one stage of the talk, which had little to do with the campaign, "that you will get a great many Republican votes."

"I believe," remarked Mr. Sullivan, "that a great deal. If not all, of the anti-merger votes will go to Mr. Hisgen, and it ought to, because he is a slaverr in his advocacy of it."

The talk was about all that was said of a political nature. Mr. Hisgen and Mr. Whitney parted with a courteous good night in the North Station.

Stops to See His Family.

It was a lively evening for the candidate of the Independence League. He left North Adams early in the morning, stopped at Springfield and saw his family, from whom he had been separated for the first time for nearly two weeks. He came down to Boston as lively as a train that lost four hours in a six hour run could bring him.

Mr. Hisgen reached the South Station at 7 o'clock and took a train for Hyde Park. An Independence League rally was on there and he was introduced as the State ticket. It was a large and enthusiastic crowd and they gave Mr. Hisgen a rousing welcome. He made only a brief speech, but it was in his highest vein. He told about the delay because of the lateness of the train and then said:

"It took us fifteen minutes to get to the South Station from the Huntington avenue Station. All of the passengers were grumbling. I held a sort of Independence League rally right there in the car. I told the passengers that there was only one way to remedy this serious annoyance. If they wanted a better railroad service they must change the administration.

The "Boston and Almost."

"They must get rid of the Railroad Commission. That we have tried for a long time. This commission voted for inaction at every opportunity. Now the Boston & Albany is called the 'Boston and Almost,' because it is almost always late.

"I want to tell you, as I told those people in the car, that if I am elected governor I will call a session of the legislature immediately and have the railroad commission turned out, or impeached and then compel the railroad to run their business with some regard to the good of the public, or we will run it ourselves.

"We are here to face to-day with a serious condition. The cost of living has advanced with much greater rapidity than wages have gone up. All this is the result of the action of the trusts in the recent advance in the price of coal. The railroads are at the bottom of it. When you know it was President Baer of the Reading Railway who said that he had been selected by the Good Being to take care of the anthracite coal supply.

"Take the Milk Trust. The farmer cannot ship directly to the consumer because the railroad combinations unduly against the farmer in the freight rates. Vote against the trust candidates this year. If the railroad that continues the principal part of the sovereign fund to elect men who will do their bidding.

"The New Haven Trust president advises you to vote for Guild. That is because the New Haven wants to get hold of the Boston & Maine railway and he knows that Guild will help him.

"Henry M. Whitney also is in favor of the merger. Think of that, Democratic friends, in doing that and at the same time calling himself a Democrat. The candidate who has the welfare of the State at heart is opposed to the railroad merger and to the consummation of any other Trust that will have to be destroyed by the people.

Mr. Hisgen got back to the South Station at 8 o'clock and caught the 8:15 train from there to Salem and the North field. When Mr. Hisgen entered the Faneuil Hall in Salem the house was packed. There was no cushion or applause. Mr. Guild had asked that there be no applause, but he declined. Some of the pretty girls gathered about the candidate's table to the date and they had soon got his order for whatever they supposed he would have to sell. The gould candidate could not resist the winsome smiles of the girls and he would soon have been penniless if he had not been rescued by one of the managers of the fair.

Mr. Hisgen was escorted to the platform and introduced to the audience. He told a good story to open his address.

"If there is a set of men for whom I have no sympathy it is the men who run veterans' fairs. I believe that the fire department organization is one of the best systems in the world. Other departments would learn something by studying the fire department.

Would Lower Phone Rates.

"When any public service corporation does not serve the people, city or State well, it should be taken from the State and run under municipal ownership, city or State. In this connection I would like to say a word about the telephone. It should be as cheap as the postage stamp system. There is no reason why the price should be so exorbitant.

I am glad to see so many ladies here to-night. I am always glad to see the ladies, but particularly so in this campaign, because they are the stewards of the homes and they can understand the present conditions. They know all about the high prices. And I want to impress upon them the fact that the reason why the prices are so high is that the Trusts have gotten hold of the commodities and raised the prices in order to swell their profits. That is one for the present State administration is a vote to continue the present high prices. A vote to make them higher. The corporations are for Guild. They think that it will be for their interests and they are pretty well posted on such things.

"Why, just think of it. Mr. Whitney spent about $23,000 in order to get his nomination. He has admitted that he spent that much. It is a shame. It has got to be almost impossible for a man of ordinary circumstances to run for an office and make any kind of a showing because of the great amounts of money spent in opposition.

"I want to thank you for the kind invitation to be here and for the close attention you have given me."

This finished Mr. Hisgen's talk. He then mingled among those present and chatted for a few minutes. To-night Mr. Hisgen, E. Gerry Brown and other able speakers will be present at a rally to be held in Chelsea.

PUZZLE: FIND THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE.

OSGOOD CHEERED AT PLYMOUTH

PLYMOUTH, Oct. 26.—In a most enthusiastic meeting, held in the Knights of Pythias hall last night the Independence League of this town held its rally, between two hundred and three hundred being present to cheer the speakers. The meeting was presided over by H. E. Bryant, who opened the meeting by describing the reason for the birth of the Independence League movement. He particularly appealed to the laboring men, and the trade unionists to give support to the entire Independence League ticket.

Mr. Bryant introduced Mr. W. P. Sawyer of Boston, who spoke on the initiative and direct legislation. Mr. Sawyer also touched on the railroad merger and other popular topics. Mr. Osgood was then introduced and spoke on the employers' liability act, and on injunctions particularly and governor Guild especially. Mr. Osgood's speech was listened to intently by the crowd in fact it made a splendid impression on his hearers. He paid a splendid tribute to both Hisgen and E. Gerry Brown, which drew forth great cheering from the crowd.

League Plank Explained.

Mr. Osgood explained the planks of the Independence League platform referring to each subject.

He then argued that the present high prices of necessaries of life were directly traceable to the particular trusts and combinations which depended for their existence upon special favors and special privileges. He asserted that no harm in the long run can result from any combination not based upon special privileges.

We are often told that organization is the ruling thing of the present era in all department of human activity. That it is the natural evolution of the times and should be encouraged. Yes, if a natural evolution. But supposing it is an artificial creation? It will be their fall. There is not the slightest objection to any country, state or municipality that is naturally formed by Gould when he observed, "that blood and capital, if left to themselves, would bring about a satisfactory adjustment," was philosophically and strictly correct. The trouble is in the commercial world, as in the relation of labor and capital, the factors are not left to themselves to bring about a satisfactory adjustment.

How Trusts Work.

When enormous aggregations of capital rush to court halls of legislation and secure special powers and licenses to exploit the public, and charge any rates they may choose for the transportation of persons and commodities, and for the transmission of light, intelligence and to perform other services that are published and not private, such aggregations become monopolies and are artificial creations. It is the work of these artificial creations which cause all the present trouble. They were created by special delight and pets of Jay Gould, as they are of every other railroad and monopolist.

Gould, like Mellen and the rest, thought that railroads, the all kinds of business, should not be conducted as they seem to be let alone. Wouldn't the American people who have indeed to leave everything to the Mellens and the Whitneys, the Rockefellers, the owners of the Steel Trust, milk trust, etc? Because of the special rebates and rates of transportation the necessaries of life are corrupted and prices dictated, and the smaller dealer and producers with no special favors from its railroad are ruined or excluded from its markets.

That this is also is so apparent, that it seemed hardly necessary to say anything further.

I like to refer to the concrete example of the Western Union Telegraph Company. This is capitalized and bonded for $130,000,000. According to experts, a whole army of them, and statesmen and postmasters generals, their entire plant of this company can be replaced for $20,000,000—[that is, about one-sixth of its present capitalization. Now, we pay 25 cents for ten words for messages of short distances. In other countries where the telegraph is a part of the postal department as it is in every country in the world of any consequence outside of the United States and Canada, they send twenty words for 10 cents. In other words, in the United States we pay two and a half times what we ought to pay.

If the price of sending telegrams can thus be arbitrarily dictated by an autocratic company, why not the price of necessaries by other monopolies which exist only through the grace of government.

Apply the same examination to other public utilities in the country and you will find the same arbitrary control of prices.

Abolish special privileges. Restore to the public functions which the public. Leave the individual citizen to enjoy legitimate business and natural competition and natural conditions and natural opportunities and he will take care of himself.

But the citizens everywhere are realizing their eyes and are awaking. When they are fully dressed and get out into the open air and look around them, they will show Jay Gould and all modern devotees of organization just what organization really means and what it can accomplish, when it follows the lines of a political organization in the interests of rent and not prejudiced and hypocritical popular sentiment.

The Independence League, based upon truth and justice, the most safe and selendid political party of modern times, is leading the way, and the American people are rapidly encouraging its mission and are flocking to enlist under its standard.

The committee in charge of the meeting comprised: Herbert Bryant, chairman; Martin McCarthy, secretary; Robert Mc-Cartney, Charles C. Smith, Isaac Perkins and Andrew Carr. After Mr. Osgood had finished speaking, the members of the committee also made remarks in reference to the Independence League.

NORWOOD VOTERS FLOCK TO LEAGUE

The voters of Norwood are not to be outdone by any other town as far as showing their dislike for the two old parties and their friendliness for the Independence League and last night at a rally for Hisgen and Brown, which was held in Large Hall, they turned out in record numbers to cheer the League candidates.

Previous to the opening of the meeting, a big demonstration was given by the speakers outside the hall and this was followed by a monster street parade, the feature of which was the appearance of several large transparencies bearing the words of Thomas L. Hisgen, our next Governor."

The illuminated banners were carried by the hall and placed in front of the platform, and this was the signal for a round of cheers and a tiger for Hisgen and Brown.

Cheer Blind Orator.

The meeting was presided over by James E. Murphy, Independence League candidate for the House who gave a short address on the work of the League, and after alluding the lookbinders to adopt the ballot of the real workingman's party he introduced Mr. Washington A. Coles.

Mr. Coles resides in Dorchester, but has known Mr. Hisgen all his life. The two were schoolboy chums. Mr. Coles is totally blind, but he is anxious that the voters of the State should know "Tom" who Hisgen is."

The introduction of Mr. Coles was marked with great enthusiasm, and it was several minutes before he could begin his speech, and even then he was frequently interrupted with loud and lasting cheers.

Mr. Coles took up the Independence League, explained its platform and its aims. Then, working man and blind, gave a detailed history of Thomas L. Hisgen, the League candidate for Governor.

Hisgen's Fight on Trust.

The blind orator told how Mr. Hisgen, together with his brothers, started up in the grape grease business in Albany and how they were on their way to fortune when the agents of the Standard Oil tried to buy them out, only to have their offer refused.

Then started the war—a fight which has since been called one which was unparalleled against the greatest trust in the country. Mr. Hisgen started in business in Springfield, but the Oil Trust was right on deck, and up to date Hisgen has fought them to a stand still and has made money on it.

Mr. Coles also told how the people took up Hisgen's battle, and although the trust oil was cheaper they stood by the home now

"Mr. Hisgen is still a trust fighter and he will strike them out of this State if the people will only stand by him and give him their votes and make him Governor."

Great Ovation to Coles.

At the close of his speech Mr. Coles hurried away for Hyde Park, where he received another enthusiastic welcome.

"I'm an American was the next speaker. He compared the work done by the two old parties, and ended with the striking bookbinders, of whom there were many present.

Independence League Rallies

RALLIES are to be held as follows, at which Thomas L. Hisgen, candidate for Governor on the Independence League ticket, and other speakers are to appear during the next two weeks. The star in front of each city or town indicates where Mr. Hisgen will speak.

PATTEN, Me., Oct. 26.—The Palmer House, a three-story wooden hotel owned by the G. L. Foss Company, and the residence and millinery store of S. C. Leslie, have been burned. The total loss was $18,000, partly covered by insurance.

MISSING GIRL HELD PRISONER, SAYS MOTHER

Frantic Parent Appeals to Police to Aid in Hunt for Child.

THINKS SHE'S LURED AWAY

Frantic with grief at the disappearance of her sixteen-year-old daughter, whom she is convinced is being held a prisoner somewhere, Mrs. George R. Spencer of No. 64 Sullivan street, Charlestown, has appealed to the police to restore the child to her.

Walking out of her home on Monday last to do an errand on Main street, Katherine N. Spencer disappeared as completely as if the earth had opened and swallowed her.

When she did not return within a few hours, her mother became anxious, and, with the aid of her neighbors, sought the missing girl, without success.

Now, worn out with worry, and fearful she would see her daughter, Mrs. Spencer is threatened with a nervous collapse.

Katherine Spencer, the missing girl, has never remained away from home one night before, and her mother declares she has either been lured or is a prisoner or else dead.

To-day, the police took up the search for the missing girl and are making an investigation of several places in Canning and South Boston, where, it is thought, she may have been lured and detained.

POLICEMAN DISMISSED.

In General Order 135, Patrolman James J. Rafferty of Division Six was dismissed from the Boston Police Department. His finding effect at roll-call last evening. He was charged with intoxication.

GERMANY ROUSED BY VON MOLTKE SCANDAL

VERDICT ANXIOUSLY AWAITED TO-DAY IN SUIT BROUGHT AGAINST EDITOR.

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—All Germany, roused almost directly against the count, however, by the scandal brought out in the suit of General Count von Moltke against Editor Harden, is to-day anxiously awaiting a verdict in the most startling court trial in years.

Denouncing the political and moral corruption which he declared was almost the rule in German court circles, Lawyer Bernstein to-day demanded redress, not punishment, but for Editor Harden as the journalist's due for exposing conditions which threaten the country's welfare.

In defending Harden against the libel charges brought against him by Von Moltke, whom the former accused of membership in the "Knights of the Round Table," an organization charged with position not only to political interests of the most dangerous character but to the most shocking immoralities, Bernstein made an address which made Moltke fairly writhe in his seat, while the court attendants and spectators listened in almost awe-inspired silence.

Scores Aristocracy.

The lawyer's attack was directed not so much against the count, however, as against the German aristocracy generally. Moltke, he said, was exculated in the columns of Harden's paper, the Zukunft, merely as one of the members of the society to which he belonged. He was not singled out for persecution, but was evidently chosen by the Kaiser to bring suit against Harden, not because the ruler sought the editor's punishment, but as a test of the truth of his charges.

Lawyer von Gordon followed Bernstein with an address repudiating Harden's charges in so far, at least, as they concerned Von Moltke, and demanding the editor's punishment, not only for the injury he has wrought, but in vindication of the count's character.

Court Hears Enough.

The taking of testimony in the case was stopped abruptly by Justice Kern yesterday afternoon, with the announcement that the court had heard enough to satisfy him concerning the character of the decision, though no indication was given concerning the ruling.

'So Happy, I Can't Stay Thin,' Says Duchess of Marlborough

The Duchess of Marlborough, now on brief visit to America, who is centre of a round of gaiety in society, and her brother, W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr. She is soon coming to Newport to meet Count Szechenyi, the fiance of her cousin, Gladys Vanderbilt, but will return home before the wedding.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Although her fiance, the Duchess of Marlborough does not expect to remain in America long enough to attend any or all of the three wedding ceremonies which will mark the union of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt and Count Szechenyi, she expects to be able to visit the Count and his bride-to-be at Newport. Just at present she is in the centre of a round of society events on Long Island, the program which has been arranged for her including everything but the element of rest. To-day she is attending the meet of the Meadowbrook hounds. She is next going to the home of her father, William K. Vanderbilt, at Oakdale, where her own honeymoon was passed. Then comes a visit to her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr. After that she plans to visit Newport, where she will meet the Count. Preparations are already under way for her reception and entertainment there.

The boys of the Duchess, she says, are recovering very rapidly from their operation in America. "I must hasten home within a few days to prepare my boys' Christmas. You know they think everything depends upon Santa Claus' remembrance, and I should be disappoint them for anything," she said, "but Newport is supreme happy to visit America again. "Why, I am so happy," she declared, "that I know I can't stay thin."

"DRAPERS OF HOPEDALE LABOR'S REAL ENEMY"

E. Gerry Brown Tells Lawrence Union Men of Real Conditions in Machine Town.

LAWRENCE, Oct. 26.—Voicing a protest from the toilers of Lawrence against the election of Elen S. Draper as Lieutenant-Governor, the Lawrence Central Labor Union at a mass meeting in the City Hall last night heard from E. Gerry Brown and other speakers a recital of conditions as they actually exist at Hopedale.

Trades union members were urged to unite and work incessantly from now until November 5 to defeat the Lieutenant-Governor for re-election.

James B. Mosaic, president of the Central Labor Union, presided. E. Gerry Brown, the first speaker, declared that not only do the Drapers of Hopedale fail to provide decent living American wages for their operatives in Hopedale, but that conditions there are un-American, in that men are made serfs, and that the child labor law is openly violated and daily defied.

Small Pay for Big Dividends.

"Whoever the Draper who desires to provide for his family," said Mr. Brown, "is a natural enemy, and such are the Drapers of Hopedale.

"A beautiful spot is this town, but the Drapers own it all. It was set off from Milford by corruption in the Legislature and used to raise one million dollars a year in taxes for the benefit of the Drapers. There is a population of 2,000 souls, of whom 1,000 are children, and the 1,000 votes cast against him last year were the honest votes of men who condemn his un-American practices in his dealings with the producers of his wealth.

"But one newspaper, the BOSTON AMERICAN, supported the Democratic candidate last year, and this year, despite the pauperized politicians hired by Henry M. Whitney and Draper influence, it will fight true.

"A charge that Republican money went into Springfield on both sides and created that riot, and to-day we have the very men who contributed money to the Springfield disorder buttoning up their coats, looking wise and asking laboring men to join the Sunday school party.

"The laborers of the State will not be deceived. They will unite and register their protest against such conditions as have a right to exist, despite the pauperized politicians hired by Henry M. Whitney and Draper influence. They will fight true.

"If ever there was a candidate last year, and this year, despite the pauperized politicians hired by Henry M. Whitney and Draper influence, they will fight true.

"Drapers Even Control Minister."

"A few men in Hopedale own the houses, own the stores and own the church, and if they do not 'fear of God as it comes down doesn't please the Drapers they can discharge the minister. That's Hopedale.

"Wages there are as low as $7.50 per week, and when store bills, rent charges and foot bills are deducted, as they are at the office from the pay of operatives, eighty-five cents apiece for a family of five is about the balance left after a week's work.

"Draper will deny these figures, but I will stand by them.

"If this is the kind of Americanism you want, vote for Draper. It is the duty of every trade unionist to defeat Draper.

Like Hades For the Toiler.

"Hopedale is heavenly to Draper, though he consigns me to the other place. But Hopedale is the other place for the ordinary toiler in the Draper works.

"The child labor law is openly violated and defied in Hopedale. I claim that there is child labor in Hopedale, and I have the testimony of my own eyesight.

"There are boys in those works whose only knowledge of the English language is to answer 'sixteen years' to a Draper question you ask them.

"Inquire the time of day, the name of the street, make any inquiry and you get the same answer, 'sixteen years.'

"These children, very many of them are barely fourteen years of age, but 'sixteen years' is drilled into their little minds.

"If you believe in that kind of citizenship, vote for Draper.

Drapers Are Supreme Here.

"Milford is building schools and taking care of none of the children that should be taken care of by Draper's money. But Hopedale with its $6 tax rate pays only the bills that the Drapers say. They separate themselves and tax themselves just as they wish, for Draper is Hopedale.

"The Lieutenant-Governor is assailing me on the stump and is not keeping within the bounds of truth. I never said that Draper was a member of the big employers' association which has for its object the shooting of organized labor.

"He says he is not, but just as his word is of no effect with me from moulders, it may not be in this case.

Republican Riot Funds.

"He says I am a joke, but I come last year within 8,000 votes of making a joke of him, and the 192,000 votes cast against him last year were the honest votes of men who condemn his un-American practices in his dealings with the producers of his wealth.

"But one newspaper, the BOSTON AMERICAN, supported the Democratic candidate last year, and this year, despite the pauperized politicians hired by Henry M. Whitney and Draper influence, it will fight true.

"A charge that Republican money went into Springfield on both sides and created that riot, and to-day we have the very men who contributed money to the Springfield disorder buttoning up their coats, looking wise and asking laboring men to join the Sunday school party.

"The laborers of the State will not be deceived. They will unite and register their protest against such conditions as have a right to exist, despite the pauperized politicians hired by Henry M. Whitney and Draper influence. They will fight true.

"If ever there was a candidate last year, and this year, despite the pauperized politicians hired by Henry M. Whitney and Draper influence, they will fight true.

Appeal to Labor Men.

Horace W. Churchill of Lynn, organizer for District No. 19 of the Machinists' Union, and John O. Gifford of Lawrence, followed Mr. Brown with an appeal to laboring men to vote for Mr. Draper. Mr. Churchill scored Senator Joseph Donovan for his action in opposing the eight-hour labor bill, and denounced him for his hostility to a dozen measures in this year's Legislature, advocated by organized labor.

FAIR MANAGERS GIVE WARNING TO MERCHANTS

Green and Rowe Say Solicitors For Program Advertising Have No Authority.

The attention of C. H. Green and E. J. Rowe, managers of the New England Food Fair and Manufacturing Exposition at Mechanics Building, has been called to the fact that certain parties are soliciting advertising for what they claim is to be a program to be distributed at the Food Fair on Greater Boston day, October 29. They state emphatically that they have no knowledge of, or connection with any such program and that should it be published they would not permit its distribution in the fair or in any other way to date. They have made it a particular point not to have any advertising program in connection with their fair, as it is their belief that any exhibitor who wishes to do so can secure as much publicity in the newspapers, during the week as they are warned not to have anything to do with any person or persons who solicit advertising for Food Fair programs.

Record-Breaking Day.

Every record of Mechanics Building for attendance was broken yesterday. It is declared that when the hall closed last night 90,000 persons had been on the floor since at least 50,000 were children. The occasion of this phenomenal outpouring was the fact that fourteen cities had dismissed their schools by order of the School Committee in order that the children might visit the fair. A special rate was made for the children and they came beyond the expectations of the management. Top floors which had been considered unused are Everett, Middleboro, Somerville, Abington, Concord, Woburn, Watertown, Hudson, Littleton, Acton, Westfield, Wakefield, Bedford and Newport. Some of the most amusing incidents was the number of lost children who turned up in the lost and found department. At one time during the afternoon seventeen little girls and boys in all stages of tears assembled at the office waiting for their mothers or fathers to come and claim them. Extra performances were given in the Passion Play and the Children's Theatre.

Full Program To-day.

In the Women's Department to-day is Patriotic Educational Day. Exercises are under the direction of Mrs. Lillian C. Kirtland, Chairman Patriotic Education for Massachusetts Daughters American Revolution. The program includes all patriotic organizations and among the speakers are Mrs. Charles Masury, State Regent D. A. R.; Miss Alice M. Gramgar, State regent D. R., Mrs. Alvin Bailey, State Director A. A. C., Colonel Charles H. Taylor, President S. A. R., Charles S. Parker, Patriotic Instructor G. A. R. of Massachusetts, and others. Mrs. Kate Tannatt Woods, the well-known writer and lecturer, gives a talk on "Women in Education."

Band of Mercy Day.

To-day is probably another one of the big days, for the Band of Mercy will hold a big rally at the fair to celebrate the first public exhibit, which is now going on in the Children's Building. The rally will be divided into sections and held in Paul Revere Hall during the afternoon. Among the speakers that George T. Angell has arranged for is Miss Edith Thomas, also the noted author of "Beautiful Joe." She will read selections from her famous book. The superintendent of schools and other noted speakers have been invited to be present and the addresses will be delivered in Paul Revere Hall at 2 o'clock, following immediately by the Passion Play pictures. Nearly every boy and girl in the State of Massachusetts is a member of the Band of Mercy, and this is to be the biggest Children's Day at the fair, but also Band of Mercy Day, one of the "Red Letter" days of the New England Food Fair and Exposition is expected.

MORAN SAVES FAMILY MAN FROM PRISON

Pays Fine of $100 from Own Pocket So That Little Ones Need Not Suffer.

"I wish there were more men in office like District Attorney Moran; the good he does seldom comes to light," said Mrs. Peter J. Foley of Charlestown to-day, describing how the District Attorney paid $100 out of his own pocket to save her husband from jail.

Foley was arrested for selling liquor without a license. A detective, disguised, went to their house on the North Mendell street, Charlestown, and induced Foley to sell him a drink.

The case was investigated by Assistant District Attorney Hugh Ogden and he recommended that, on account of the large family Foley had to support and the fact that it was his first offense, a fine of $50 be levied, to be paid in cash. Foley was told that the couple were given the man he would have to go to jail and leave his family in actual want, because they could not raise even $50 immediately.

Wife Calls Out Plot.

The recommendation was lost in court. The Foleys, supposing the case settled, went away. When Foley was re-arrested Judge Sullivan fined him $100 and, in default of payment, directed that he be committed. Foley tried to explain to the court. In her grief Mrs. Foley went to the District Attorney's office, pushing down her checks.

Mr. Moran immediately took the case up with Assistant District Attorney Ogden, and they settled the fine by going into court and paying the $100 fine out of his own pocket.

Mrs. Foley, hurried to her husband, who now live in a tenement at No. 9 Bleech street, and told him the news. Mr. and Mrs. Foley refuse to explain to the court. In her grief Mrs. Foley went to the District Attorney's office, pushing down her checks.

Mrs. Foley declared the arrest was a plot on the part of "the police to get my husband away." After telling how the police had induced her husband to sell the drink and the family from want by paying the $100 fine out of his own pocket, she described the case in these words:

"Gave Straight Drinks."

"Officer Hoey went to school with my husband in the North End and they were brought up together. A job was put up to put by husband away. A poorly dressed man came to my home and left North Meade and asked for something to get rid of a cold. I told him I had nothing to our city and let him have some liquor. I was expected that he would be good for $50 and we would have raised the money in a few days. Two months later we went to court we were told to wait outside the court room. I was called in and told to wait for the case name up. We thought it was going to be dismissed.

"An officer came to the house and said to us: 'Now you've got to pay $100 or go to jail.' He was fined $100 and District Attorney Moran paid it."

CERTIFICATE TO BLIND DOCTOR

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 26.—For the first time in the history of Rhode Island a blind man has been empowered by the State Board of Health to practice medicine in the State.

He is Dr. Christopher A. W. Howland, formerly of Boston, but now in this city. He was one of eight to pass an unusually stiff examination before the Board at the quarterly examination held October 10 and 11.

He stood second in the list of successful candidates, his standing being very high. Dr. Swarts says. Previous to coming to Rhode Island he was a practicing physician in Massachusetts, having received a certificate from the Board of Registration of that State after an examination last July.

BREAKS SPINE, STILL LIVES

While working on a ladder on the hatchway between decks of the steamer Saxonia, at its dock in East Boston to-day, Benjamin Melsaacs, forty-nine years old and married, living at No. 5 Brigham street, East Boston, had his footing and fell to the bottom of the hold, thirty feet below. He suffered a severe fracture of the spine, and though he was hurried to the Relief Hospital as soon as possible, the doctors there despair of his recovery.

GATE TENDER AVERTS CRASH; SAVES SCORES

Stalled on the tracks at Main street crossing, Malden, scores of passengers on a heavily-loaded Lowell car were in imminent danger, as the 4.10 train out of Boston rushed down upon them yesterday afternoon, and a panic ensued in which many crawled out of the windows in fright, leaving his post, Gate Tender Edward Gates ran up the tracks and succeeded in signalling the train to stop, while the conductor and motorman tried frantically to re-adjust the trolley. The train came to a standstill but a few feet away from the car.

LABOR NEWS

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES LABOR COUNCIL BOSTON, MASS. 96

The following is a part of a circular which is being sent out by the International Union of Industrial Insurance Employes, signed by the International Executive Board:

Brothers: On July 19, 1907, the life insurance agents assembled in convention at Fanuell Hall, the result of which was the formation of a labor organization, known as the International Union of Industrial Insurance Employes, during the time which has elapsed since the convention. The general officers have received valuable assistance from trades unionists everywhere. The union agent will be known everywhere by a button designed to wear in the lapel of his coat with the month for which his dues are paid printed across the centre. Should you already be carrying insurance on your family, insist upon your collector being a union man and wearing the union button.

Signed by Andrew J. Hickey, John D. Williams, Harry A. Flint, John A. McFarland, James Nelson, Jr., George Bowen, John Moran and John Fitzpatrick.

All members are urged to attend. M. I. F. are notified that the telegraphers' assessment of November 5 covers all sums and force assessments of 25 cents for the Labor Committee, which covers levies September 17, by William F. Kinder, President, and Thomas Burke, Secretary.

This is the twentieth term for Secretary Abrahams, the fifteenth term for Treasurer Sesse, and the eighth term for Sergeant-at-Arms Fenton of the Boston Central Labor Union.

Local No. 1, Commercial Telegraphers will have a big entertainment and dance at Tattersall's on October 30. It is hoped, from the way tickets are selling, that the sum of $5,000 will be realized.

The recent dance given by Local No. 264, International Association of Machinists in Wells Memorial Hall, last night was a big success. Over $100 will be netted from the receipts.

Sewer Workers No. 3588, which sent Timothy Reardon as a delegate to the Milford convention, took up the matter of sending delegates to the Keliher convention at their regular meeting last night. All members are urged to attend.

Local No. 1, Bridge and Structural, No. 6751, A. F. of L., will give their twenty-first annual dance and reception in Knights of Pythias Hall, 315 Tremont street, on the evening of Wednesday, November 6. Local No. 1 is the only bridge and structural iron workers' local in the city proper of Boston.

The Building Trades Section of the Boston C. L. U. voted last night to refer the matter of issuing charters to Local Union Bridgemen's Federal No. 2 and Local Union No. 3 to the Board of Governors, which consists of one delegate from each affiliated local with the section, to take action and either straighten out the matter or refer it back.

Hoisting and portable engineers instructed every delegate to go to work and get a delegate elected for election as Lieutenant-Governor.

The Building Trades Section voted not to let any deals go until the end of the convention of Sheet Metal Workers, which will be held in Boston next week.

A letter has been received by the Board of Trustees of the Building Trades Employers' Association from the committee on the increase of wages for the members of the Local Union No. 2 Young Men's Christian Association, stating that they have succeeded in having the coal passers of the Boston City Hospital put on a union basis by getting them an increase of $2 per week in wages.

Brass Workers No. 55 initiated six new members last night. The matter of arrangements for a business agent to work in Boston and vicinity was laid on the table until next meeting.

MEETINGS TO-NIGHT.

EUROPEAN GOLD IS SENT TO NEW YORK

a great many with their pass books in their hands, ready to draw out their savings at the first sign of trouble. With notices on the bank windows that the company would require thirty days' notice from depositors in the participation and saving accounts.

The conference of bankers and prominent financiers yesterday afternoon decided that the Industrial Company, one of the largest in the State, with branches in every principal city of Rhode Island, was perfectly solvent.

The plan is to enable it to enter early in front of the main office of the company in the Industrial Trust building, at the corner of Westminster and Exchange streets, and the branch known as the Arcade, on Westminster street. This branch was formerly one of the banks conducted by the company.

The insistence on a ninety days' notice before any of deposits is taken by the banks is believed to be a means of preventing a heavy run, as only a small per cent. of savings deposits are paid out in any one day.

DEPOSITORS CROWD TO GET MONEY FROM 3 PAWTUCKET BANKS

Special to the Boston American.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Oct. 26.—Before three of the banks in this city there gathered crowds at an early hour anxious to withdraw their savings. The three were the Slater Trust Company, the Industrial Trust Company's Pawtucket branch and the Pawtucket Institution for Savings.

Because of the increasing size of the crowds the entire city police force, night and day men, was ordered on duty. No scenes of great excitement occurred at the institutions, but at all three there was for a time an insistent demand for money.

In front of the Slater Trust Company the crowd began to gather at an early hour. It was made up of working men and mill employes. One bent old man, who was probably eighty years of age, reached the head of the line and stood shivering in the cold close to the door gripping his bank-book with nervous fingers. He was one of the first admitted.

Women arrived with children in their arms and endeavored to quiet them while they stood the long, tedious wait before the doors opened.

Every one had money ready for all who wanted it. The moment the doors opened a policeman stood on each side of the entrance and kept the crowd in line. Inside the bank, which was ready for business, walked calmly into the bank and in a few minutes, after receiving the money, going to withdraw their accounts, he made room for the next.

Apparently that act helped to allay fears. Soon after the line commenced to thin out.

At the Industrial Trust Company there were 100 depositors in line when the doors opened. A bank official said that the bank would take advantage of the ninety days' notice and refuse participation in savings account, but that all call deposits would be paid.

A smaller crowd gathered at the Pawtucket Institution for Savings. There was no excitement and the bank was prepared to meet all demands.

LEAGUERS HOLD FOUR MEETINGS MONDAY NIGHT

Energies Stored Over Sunday Expected to Make the Speakers Unusually Interesting.

Four monster rallies on Monday night call for all the speaking power that the speakers of the Independence League will be able to store over Sunday.

Monday's rallies will be held at Marlboro, Hudson and New Bedford and at the Dudley Street Opera House, Roxbury. The Roxbury rally will be a "Heroes" meeting, called primarily to boom the senatorial candidacy of Captain Thomas Sisson, of the Eighth Suffolk District. With Captain Sisson will appear the Hon. William N. Osgood of Lowell, State President of the League; William Sawyer, gubernatorial candidate in the nearly Seventh District, and Simon Edgerly, one of the most brilliant of the League's phalanx.

Marlboro and Hudson, a few miles apart in Middlesex County, are promised a rare political treat. Both good town and both Democratic, on Monday night—in Russell Hall at Marlboro and in the Town Hall at Hudson—Congressman Hon. Pat Hisgen, Eugene Derry, Joshua T. Auerbach, Hon. Charles Q. Tirrell and Hon. Clement L. Pollock.

League campaigners declared to-day that the principal orators of the party in Massachusetts will be heard on the Monday night. They believe that the Marlboro-Hudson and the New Bedford rally will make hundreds of votes.

In New Bedford the Leaguers and their friends will foregather at City Hall. Edward Sanderson, League candidate for State Treasurer, is coming over from Fall River. Sanderson is going to give "Nonsense" Cantwell a warm reception. On the platform with him will appear Greenfield Mac Farland of Cambridge, who resigned as the chairmanship of the Executive Committee of the Democratic State Committee long before the Springfield riot, in order that he might devote all his energies and abilities to the work of the League; Thomas J. Moriarty of Lynn, League candidate for State Auditor; Rev. Roland D. Sawyer of Haverhill and Washington A. Coles of Dorchester.

$3,000 GEM ROBBERY ON A STREET CAR

Three Men Accused by Jewelry Salesman Arrested in North Attleboro.

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Oct. 26.—Charged with the robbery of $3,000 worth of jewelry from a sample case on a street car, Joseph Girard, William Bunker and Dan Chisholm, three North Attleboro men, were arrested early to-day.

Dan Chisholm, a salesman for the firm of Hughes & Nilson, in turn made the charge. He was returning from a trip on the Providence & Taunton electric car, when he noticed that the straps of the sample case were loosened and on reaching the hotel found that a half of the samples, about $3,000 worth of the precious trinkets were missing.

Following the description given by the motorman of the car, who was the first man handling the sample case, the police made the three arrests.

"FUNNY TOWN, BOSTON," SAYS ACTOR ELTINGE

Noted Impersonator, Now at Keith's, Complains of Home City's Peculiar Viewpoint.

HIS ACT PROVES BIG HIT

"I hate to play in Boston, even if it is my home town," declared Julian Eltinge last evening, after the performance of Keith's, "because no one here seems to consider my act on its merits. They think of me only as a former Cadet show player. That's why I hate to play in Boston."

Here is a modern version of the saying that a man is not without honor save in his own country, for Julian Eltinge has just returned from Europe, where he was the biggest sensation of the year—on the merits of his act.

"This is the most peculiar town I ever saw," says Mr. Eltinge. "The people here won't let a fellow make any headway by himself. They always try to tie him down to some past history. If they remember him at all it is only as 'the boy who played the part of Willie Hodgkins ten years ago.'

"This Is a Funny Town."

"Now, with me, it is always, 'He played in the Bank Officers' Show ten years ago,' or, 'He used to be with the Cadets'—but never a word about my present act, which I want to stand on its own merits. Really, this is the funniest town in the world."

Mr. Eltinge is unique in the field of female impersonators. Instead of being a "sissy," as many of the men in his line of work are, he is a fine specimen of American young manhood, immensely popular with everyone who knows him. In his new series of impersonations, which he is giving at Keith's this week, he changes from a fifteen girl to a young woman of seventeen, then to a girl of seven, then into a boy's character, all equally perfect as to detail, mannerisms and costume.

Has Offer to Star.

Mr. Eltinge this week received the offer of the leading part in the coming Bank Officers' Show, written for them by Richard Carle. Charles Burnett, former president of the association, is arranging to star him in the show if it is successful at the Herald Street Theatre when produced by the Bank Officers in the Spring.

LITTLE ALLSTON BOY BADLY HURT BY AUTO

Joseph Barrett, an eight-year-old Allston lad, living at No. 10 Rhine avenue, is on the dangerous list at the City Hospital, as the result of being run over by an automobile of the Angier Chemical Company of Allston. The Barrett lad was about to cross the street when the automobile came along. The operator, Joseph A. Gokey of No. 18 Richard avenue, Somerville, did what he could to prevent the accident, but the little fellow went down under the wheels. He sustained a compound fracture of the skull and a fracture of the leg below the knee.

TO HONOR WHITTIER.

AMESBURY, Oct. 26.—The committee in charge of the Whittier centennial anniversary have fixed the date for the exercises for Tuesday, December 17. Mrs. James T. Fields and Mrs. Harriet Prescott Spofford are to contribute poems.

FOUR VIEWS OF JULIAN ELTINGE.

Mr. Eltinge's powers of impersonation are remarkably illustrated in the accompanying picture, which includes a photograph of him as he appears off the stage, and the others showing him in some of his favorite character roles.

VOTERS AID CHAS. J. KIDNEY

That the campaign of Charles J. Kidney, the Independence League candidate for the House of Representatives in Ward 17, is waxing warm is manifest by the activity of the members of the inner circle of the Tammany Club to overcome the sentiment which has been enlisted in his behalf among the voters of the district. The slogan of "Ward 17 offices for Ward 17 men" seems to have struck a popular keynote in the contest. The friends of Mr. Kidney confidently expect that he will head the ticket election day.

At a large an enthusiastic meeting of his campaign committee last evening gratifying reports were received from all parts of the ward. Precinct 1, the stronghold of the Curleys, is up in arms against the Tammany candidate, Frederick M. J. Sheehan, on account of the fact that he is a resident of Ward 20. He has failed to answer the open letter of Mr. Kidney to that effect. The other precincts are solid for the League candidates.

STORK BRINGS SIXTEENTH.

AMESBURY, Oct. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. John McGinnis of Orchard street are receiving congratulations over the advent of a son, their sixteenth child.

WEDDING TO FOLLOW BOX OFFICE ROMANCE

WORCESTER, Oct. 26.—In the announcement of the engagement of Miss Hattie F. Vittum, one of the prettiest young women of Worcester, to George H. Lighton of the Majestic Theatre of New York, there is revealed a romance of the Worcester Theatre box office. Mr. Lighton was formerly manager of the theatre for the Shuberts, Miss Vittum was treasurer of the theatre and they were thrown continually into each other's company. When the theatre came under the control of Klaw & Erlanger Mr. Lighton was transferred to New York city, but he left his heart behind in Worcester and the marriage is to take place soon.

10,000 OUT ON STRIKE.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 26.—Because the Illinois Central railway freight handlers could not come to an agreement as to the time period in their contract, the 10,000 or more freight handlers and other laborers employed on the river front here again went on strike to-day.

PUTS WHISKEY IN GRAVE.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 26.—Phineas Gaede Wright of Putnam, seventy-five years old and known in eastern Connecticut for his eccentricities, has had his grave in the Putnam Cemetery opened and a case of whiskey placed beside the coffin, which has been in the grave for more than a year, ready to receive his body when he dies.

RABBI FLEISCHER TO LECTURE ON JUDAISM

The second of the series of lectures on "The Six Aspects of Judaism," will be given Sunday evening, at the Young Men's Hebrew Association, No. 39 East Concord street. The speaker will be Rabbi Charles Fleischer of Temple Israel, and his subject will be "Eclecticism in Judaism."

False Hair as Bad as Big Hats

BY MME. QUI VIVE

FIFTEEN years ago the theatre-going girl made herself noticeable, and sometimes objectionable, by wearing a barrel-sized hat. After years of public meetings, bus-bandit pleadings, newspaper excitement and general derision, sarcasm and prayers the lady confessedly to remove her millinery.

Now is it possible that the dear girls have just been waiting for revenge? Did they have their hair in their minds all the time? Pretty bright, some of them; there's no telling. Anyhow, at the present moment they are wearing atop their brows the most massive structures of amazing and wonderful design and architecture.

The present-day coiffure comes in four layers, like a chocolate cake. First there is one's owneest hair that nature supplied. Then there is an inside pompadour that papa paid for. Then there is more owneest hair, and on top of that there is more factory-made decoration.

A few years ago false hair was considered a form of disgrace. Now the more false hair you have the more of a lady you are.

It is a part of one's wardrobe, like lace parasols and bath slippers. It used to be that a woman lived in great dread lest her husband should discover that she wore a switch. She was afraid that he would divorce her. Now she tips pounds and pounds of wavy tresses and sends the bill to him.

At the theatre the false hair mania looms up in the public. One wonders how it is possible for all women to have such luxuriant topknots. One examines closely and one is amused to see little stem ends of switches, small wires to which curls are attached and other evidences of make believe.

The prices that are paid for these beauty aids are almost beyond belief. Twenty dollars is a moderate price for a small remnant of coiffure grandeur. Often as much as $100 is paid for an extra beautiful stylish headdress.

Those women who howled the loudest at the first appearance of the Marcel wave and its braids and puffs are now numbered among the most hopeless slaves. It is epidemic.

And who can blame them?

Certainly not man, who spoils and pets them. Certainly not woman, who is herself a maniac on the subject.

Smart Set Is Said to Be Practising Economy These Days, Yet This "SIMPLE DINNER" FOR 30 COSTS $6,550

MRS. JOHN JACOB ASTOR, FAMOUS AS A GIVER OF LAVISH DINNERS, AND SKETCH SHOWING $700 LACE TABLECLOTH RECENTLY USED IN NEW YORK

Market Slump Has Cut Extravagance by One-Half

NEW YORK'S "400" has begun to practice economy. The keynote of the fashionable function to-day is simplicity. Dress, jewels, dinners, every former extravagance has undergone metamorphosis. To be fashionable now is to be simply gowned, to wear simple jewels, to give simple dinners and—to save a lot of money.

Why is this? The answer is to be found on the stock ticker. The slump in the "400" have felt business recession. They have had to economize. A witty society woman lately said—but a propos dinner that man's first economy is to cut down his wife's allowance, and this is just what has happened in the "400," all because a few "financiers of finance" have kicked the prop from under the stock market.

Mrs. John Jacob Astor has been one of the most lavish and frequent entertainers of New York society and her friends in the "400" are now wondering whether she, too, will adopt measures of economy and thus make the coming season in New York society less brilliant.

$20,000 One Course

Not so long ago it was not uncommon, either in Newport or New York, for a woman of wealth and social prominence to spend $10,000 or $20,000 on a fashionable dinner, dance or evening entertainment.

Such extravagance is a thing of the past. Dinners are still given, of course, and they still cost a great deal of money, but it is safe to say that there is hardly a woman in New York society who has not cut her expenses for entertainment in half within the last ten months.

Now the aim is to bring a dinner within a limit of five or six thousand dollars. The female Napoleons of marrying for the next three or four years, as he is studying medicine and will not be through studies before that time.

Do you think that the difference in our ages would hinder our happiness, and is four years not too long to wait, as I would be about twenty-three years old when I would get married? I also dislike the idea of working so much longer. TROUBLED.

FOUR years is a long time to wait, and even then he might not be in a position to marry. If your love is very deep and you feel that you can never love anyone else, wait for him. But unless you are sure of yourself do not enter upon such a long wait.

description of a recent "simple" dinner given by a woman who a year ago would have spent perhaps $15,000 on the same affair. This time she spent only a little more than $6,000 in all.

Tablecloth Cost $700

To begin with, there was the tablecloth, of Italian filet lace, embroidered with figures of dancing girls, with tambourines, tripping from the four corners of the table to the centrepiece design of an enormous basket of flowers. This embroidered cloth cost $700. Covers were laid for thirty guests. The dinner service was of gold, with gold candelabra.

Cloth of gold ribbon was used in the decorations, and this cost $100. Violets, roses of the valley and lilies also adorned the table.

The florist who did the decorating charged $150 for his afternoon's work. Seventy-five dollars was spent for an artificial pool, with gold fish swimming about in it, in the centre of the table, a bridge spanning the pool, and in and out among the embroidered dancing girls, were violets and ferns, and at each corner a bouquet of the cloth of gold ribbon, with shower bouquets of violets and lilies of the valley, were fastened. The shades of the candles were made of violets.

The menu was not extravagant. Here it is:

MENU.

Caviar.
Celery Olives. Radishes.
Cape Cod Oysters.
Gumbo a la Creole.
English Sole au Vin Blanc.
Noisettes of Lamb Saute, a la Extragan.
French Peas. Potatoes O'Brien.
Roast Partridge.
Alligator Pear Salad.
Alaska Ice Cream served in loving cups of Tiffany glass.
Roquefort Cheese.
Demi-Tasse.

This looks simple enough, but the actual cost of such a menu is $295 for thirty persons.

Then the wines.

With the caviar was served very old and rare sherry.

With the sole, Moselle is best.

Fine old Bordeaux went with the lamb.

Champagne was brought on with the partridge.

Port or Madeira with the ice cream.

A small cordial with the demi-tasse.

$600 for Wine

This wine list cost just $600.

Plain gold vanity boxes in the shape of hearts were given as favors to the women guests, and gold cigarette boxes to the men.

These cost $2,280.

As additional souvenirs of the occasion the guests were allowed to carry away the Tiffany glass loving cups in which the ice cream was served. These glasses cost $50.

This was an actual dinner, given by an actual member of the "400," and illustrates what "simplicity" really means to the elect.

The total cost of this "simple little dinner," including music, wines, decorations, favors and souvenirs, was $6,550 or $218 for each individual at the dinner. Such is "economy" among the New York's "400."

This Titled Visitor Finds Fault With Our Girls' Voices

By Beatrice Fairfax

The deeft hath not in all his quiver's choice
An arrow for the heart like a sweet voice.
—Byron.

"I DO not seek a rich American wife." These are the words of Count Maurice de Perigny, who has just arrived in America with letters of introduction to several very prominent social leaders.

He pays American girls the usual tribute. Says they are charming, stunning, beautiful, well dressed, but—he laments their unmusical voices.

All foreigners must feel as Count de Perigny does, for our voices are not musical, there is no doubt of that.

All through Great Britain, in Italy, in France, even in Germany, one hears pretty voices.

The ragged little urchin in the street will answer you in the most melting, mellifluous tones, and his laughter is as soft and merry as his voice.

Positive Shock

BUT here it is a positive shock to meet a lovely, charming girl and find that she speaks through her nose.

If the badly placed voice were a thing that could not be remedied I would say nothing about it, but it can be remedied with perseverance and patience.

Get your voice down from the top of your head; speak in a low tone, and, above all things, avoid nasal intonation.

The high voice gets on a person's nerves to a degree.

I know a young woman who is both pretty and clever. She talks in the most interesting way, but her voice is pitched so high that it is positively painful to listen to her for long at a time.

"There is an old proverb which says that a "Soft voice is the sweetest thing in woman."

It certainly is a very charming quality, and one which wins much admiration.

And equally important is a pretty laugh. How often in the street you hear a loud, empty, meaningless laugh, and on turning you find that it comes from the lips of a young and pretty girl.

No Need of It

THE well-bred girl never laughs loud enough to attract public attention. Sometimes, of course, it is impossible not to laugh heartily.

For instance, the other day I heard a woman's laugh ring out on a crowded train. The car was silent, and when the soft, merry laugh rang through the silence every head in the car turned and many smiled in involuntary sympathy with the unknown joke.

American girls are too pretty and too clever to allow this blemish to mar their fair charms. There is no reason in the world why they should not have just as pleasant voices as the girls of other countries.

Count de Perigny's compliments may be taken as sincere, because he has not come fortune-hunting and does not care to grind.

But let us also take his criticism as sincere and benefit by it.

Why don't you girls make a compact to tell one another when your voices grow high and excited?

Don't talk so fast and do avoid that national pitfall, the twang.

Try and make your voices as pretty as your faces, and then even the most critical of foreigners will have no fault to find.

Advice to Anxious Sweethearts

By Beatrice Fairfax

BETTER WAIT A WHILE

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

While on my vacation this Summer I met my affinity, a very handsome lady, twenty-eight years old, whom I loved at first sight. Now as I am thirteen years old, and only earning $8 a week, do you think it would be right for me to propose, or had we better wait a few years?

PERPLEXED.

I THINK that you had better wait until your "affinity" is a little older and your salary a little larger.

A LONG WAIT

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am twenty-one years of age, and this Summer I met a young man one year my junior.

He thinks a great deal of me, but he cannot think of marrying for the next three or four years, as he is studying medicine and will not be through studies before that time.

Do you think that the difference in our ages would hinder our happiness, and is four years not too long to wait, as I would be about twenty-three years old when I would get married? I also dislike the idea of working so much longer. TROUBLED.

FOUR years is a long time to wait, and even then he might not be in a position to marry. If your love is very deep and you feel that you can never love anyone else, wait for him. But unless you are sure of yourself do not enter upon such a long wait.

Feathers in Vogue for Women's Hats

NEVER before has there been such a large variety of styles in women's headgear as this season. There are small hats, medium-sized hats, and extremely large hats, and it would seem that no two styles are just alike. Every sort of material and ornament is being used to make hats picturesque, although some have very little trimming. Neither are the hats being made the same color as the gown, but of contrasting color.

There are wide-brimmed hats, measuring twenty-eight inches from side to side. These are trimmed with cock's plumes or huge bows of taffeta. The bows are made of the ribbon and of the silk. Two large loops are spread across the sides of the hat, one being placed in the middle of the front of the hat, and the ends of the loop will pass over the top of the hat and fastened down to the back.

The majority of these hats are worn a little to the back of the head, requiring a large pompadour.

Some of the wide-brimmed effects of the Summer are still in vogue. These hats are narrow at the front and back and broaden out toward the back, and, while very small, require a certain manner of puffs and curls to be most effective.

It is said that the large Tam o' Shanter crowns will be worn the early part of the season, but a modified setting for it will remain popular for any length of time.

A black picture hat, worn without it necessity, can be worn with any color gown. Light feathers are to be used in the drooping brim, and also in the crown, and dark tailings for those of light materials.

The high-crowned, wide-brimmed hats are of fine straw, and have velvet cloths in contrasting colors, or different shades of a single color.

A touch of ribbon is seen on a large number of hats, the ribbon sometimes covering glories and white foliage decorate others, but feathers will be given the preference.

HOW TO BE BEAUTIFUL

DOWING to the hearty articles by Miss Lillian Russell which have appeared for several days on this page the answers to correspondents were discontinued.

They will be resumed now and all inquiries will be welcomed and answered as promptly as possible. There is no need to go along through life allowing time and circumstances to gain a victory over your forces when, by a little care and attention, you can master the situation and keep old age and wrinkles where they belong—in the background.

It is a woman's duty to look as young and pretty as she can and as long as she can. God never gave her her face, hands and body to treat as they are treated by some women. Make the best of yourself in all ways, including your looks, and you will be more nearly fulfilling your mission in life than you will if you bend up your hands in horror at the woman who takes beauty treatments and makes herself as attractive as she may in her power.

Wives, if you don't believe this is wise, watch many of the men you see criticising your pompadour or sneering at you. He will turn many times to look at a woman who is made up from the top of her head to the toes of a pretty little high-heeled shoes. And he admires her, too.

GOOD FACE CREAM

DEAR PROFESSOR:

Will you kindly repeat a good face cream for some time and find my copy has been misplaced. I have a certain cream for cleansing the face, but also advise me how lemon and buttermilk are to be used on the face?

ANXIOUS M. H.

MELT in a double kettle four ounces oil of sweet almonds, and six drams each of white wax and spermaceti. To two ounces of orange flower water add one and one-half ounces of glycerin and two drams of powdered borax. Pour this mixture into the blended fats, very slowly, beating all the time. Before it is cold add fifteen drops each of oil of neroli, oil of orange skin and oil of petit grain. It is well to beat the orange flower water quite hot that it may blend more readily with the oils. Lemon and buttermilk are both good to bleach the face and hands, but should be rolling in her palm during the short interval after each. Day if you would like a lemon juice is too harsh for the skin rub on some cream after it is used with a little layer of the above cream.

TWO REQUESTS

DEAR PROFESSOR:

I would like to know what would take deep wrinkles away and also how to get rid of dandruff. After I brush them and then eat they are very dirty. What would I do to keep from rotting? DOLLY.

STRETCH the skin until it is smooth and pour over the wrinkle a little piece of paper wet with the white of an egg. Wear this paper at all times, or if that is not possible see that it is on every night. Brush the teeth well after each meal in order that there may be left between them tops of the food from the meal. Use listerine or many of the many good things that will prevent decay by keeping the teeth perfectly clean. Have your teeth examined twice a year by a dentist and what defects and imperfections he may find. Water is good wash to use in the mouth but contains no protective acids; so also is peroxide of hydrogen.

KEEP FROM TANNING

DEAR PROFESSOR:

Will you please tell me of something that will keep my face and hands from getting brown, as I am going South and I always get sunburned as soon as I get there; also tell me of something to put on my hair to make it part. I am a young man and I cannot keep my hair parted. A. A.

BATHING the face frequently with witch hazel while exposed to the sun will keep it from tanning. Any good tonic and the constant application of the brush will make the hair smooth so that it will stay in part. Brush it dozens of times a day until it will fall apart from habit.

Handy Things for Housewives to Know

TO wash any kind of a cut glass need to protect a clean shirt waist by being slipped over the arms.

The inside of bottles should either be dried whenever the contents have been emptied, or they should be filled up or stood upside down in a dry place. A few drops of water, if allowed to collect at the bottom of a bottle, soon cause spots of rust, and these in time generate into holes.

The housekeeper should remember that bathing water should never be put into a hot water bag, and that the bag should never be more than half filled. Before putting in the stopper place the bag in the lap and carefully press out the steam, as in this way it will not be mixed of the precious of the steam and rendered softer.

"THE TURN OF THE BALANCE"

A Thrilling Story of American Life by Brand Whitlock

CHAPTER XIV.

Copyright, 1907, by American Journal-Examiner

THE debate over the charity ball waged with unabated fury and served for unfinished business at two special sessions. The space in the newspapers which had proposed that the meetings be opened with prayer led the opposition to the charity ball, and, summoning all her militant religion to her aid, succeeded in arraying most of the evangelical churches against it.

In two weeks the controversy was in the newspapers, and when it had waged for a month, and both parties were exhausted, they compromised on a charity bazaar.

The dispute had been distressing to Mrs. Russell, whose nature was too sensitive to take the relish most of the others seemed to find in the controversy, and it was through her fact that peace was finally established.

Even after the bazaar was decided on, the peace was threatened by dissension as to where the bazaar should be held. The more sophisticated had wanted a ball and favored the Majestic Theatre, and this caught the simple woman to her feet again, trembling with moral indignation. To her the idea of a bazaar in a theatre was even more sacrilegious than a ball.

But Mrs. Russell saved the day by a final sacrifice—she offered her residence for the bazaar.

"It was beautiful in you!" Elizabeth exclaimed as they drove homeward together in the grayish afternoon of late November days. "To think of throwing your house open for a week—and those awful down-town tramp over the rugs!"

"Oh, I'll lay down rugs in canvas," said Mrs. Russell, with a little laugh she could not keep from ending in a sigh.

"You will find it a little matter," said Elizabeth; "this turning your house inside out; of course, the fact that it is in the house will draw all the curious and vulgar to you."

This was not exactly reassuring, and Elizabeth felt as much the moment she had said it.

"You must help me, dear!" Mrs. Russell said, squeezing Elizabeth's hand in a kind of desperation. Elizabeth was glad to have her to be in any wise demonstrative, and the always sympathetic nature responded immediately.

All Differences Forgotten

"Indeed I shall!" she said.

The bazaar was to be held the week before Christmas, and the ladies forgot their differences to unite in one of those tremendous and exhausting labors they seem to love. Elizabeth was deputed to solicit gifts in the shops, and she drew in great draughts of the Winter air with a comforting sense that it was cleansing her lungs of all that foul atmosphere of poverty she had been breathing for two days. She walked briskly to the corner, to wait for a car; beside her, on Lincoln, as with the observation of its Gothic arches of gray stone into the dark sky; across the street the City Hall loomed, its windows bright with lights.

The afternoon crowds were streaming by on the sidewalks, wagons and heavy trucks jolted and rumbled along the street; she saw the drivers of coal wagons, the whites of their eyes flashing under the electric lights against faces black as the grime of the mines.

Then Norton stopped as if she had made an unanswerable argument and proved that the woman should not be helped, and Mrs. Rider and the two agents seemed to be rebuked. Presently Mrs. Rider called the woman and told her that her case was not one that came within the purview of the society's objects, and when the hope was dying out of the woman's face Mrs. Norton sprang to her defense, in the case of children and to assure her the city was filled with pitiful cases such as she. The woman, humbled into humility, listened awhile, and then, after being turned and dragged herself toward the door. The eyes of the waiting paupers followed her with the same hopeless curiosity they had shown at the entrance of Mrs. Russell and Elizabeth and Mrs. Norton.

The limp retreating figure of the woman filled Elizabeth with distress. When at the door she saw the woman press both her eyes the sodden handkerchief she had been rolling in her palm during the short interval after each. In the hall outside, away from others, she called. The woman turned and gazed at her suspiciously.

Empties Purse

"Here!" said Elizabeth fearfully.

She opened her purse and emptied from it into the woman's hand all the silver it held.

"Where do you live?" she asked, and as the woman gave her the number of the house where she resided a moment, Elizabeth realized how inappropriate the word "live" was. Elizabeth recognized in the effort to give a glow in her breast, though she dreaded Mrs. Norton, now that she had been affronted by her deed. But Mrs. Norton received her with a smile.

"It seems hard to you, no doubt," Mrs. Norton said, and Mrs. Rider and the two agents smiled with smiles of their own, as if they were about to subtract from Elizabeth's ... "but you'll learn after a while. We must discriminate, you know; we must not pauperize them. When you've been in the work as long as I have" she paused with a superior life of her experience at the use of this word "you'll understand better."

Elizabeth felt a sudden indignation which she concealed, because she had her own doubts, after all. The ladies were gathering for the committee meeting and just then Mrs. Russell beckoned her into an inner room.

"The air is better in here," she said.

VOTERS RALLY AROUND HISSEN IN HYDE PARK

League Candidate Given Enthusiastic Welcome at Meeting in Waverly Hall.

CHEER TRUST FIGHTER

Thomas L. Hisgen, Independence League candidate for Governor, was given an enthusiastic reception by the voters of Hyde Park at the rally held in his interests in Waverly Hall, West River street, last evening. Fully 500 persons were present when he rose to deliver a brief address on the vital issues in the campaign.

Edward F. Brennan, a member of many local improvement associations and prominent in labor circles, presided. He announced that the meeting was called for the purpose of inducing the Independence League movement and of tendering a reception to the standard bearer of that party, Thomas L. Hisgen of Springfield.

He then introduced Mr. Hisgen, who was received in a manner which left no doubt as to the feelings of the voters of Hyde Park towards him. The applause he received was deafening.

"Black-Jacking Politics."

Thomas F. Phelan of Roxbury was next introduced as a champion of those principles which stood for a square deal for all and favoritism to none. He said, in part:

"Words are totally inadequate to express the deep feeling of gratitude which I have for the proud privilege of addressing such a large and enthusiastic meeting. It shows that the people are alive to the issues in this campaign and that they are waking up to the situation which confronts them; that they are not going to view with indifference the chicanery and black-jacking politics as played by a coterie of political hard hitters who have no love for rights of the people to grasping corporations.

A Simple Remedy.

"The need of a new party in Massachusetts has been felt for years and, thank God, we have one today that holds aloof from all entangling alliances with the men who sell the people's rights.

"The increased cost of food and fuel is felt this year more than ever before. All this is due to the inactivity of the Attorney-General in allowing the trusts to dictate prices without consulting the wishes of the people. The remedy for this notorious evil of the trusts is very simple. Apply the principles of Jefferson and work with might and main for the election of Hisgen for Governor and he will force these trusts to heel-kiss into the voice of a government of, by and for the people and not a government of corporations."

Hisgen the Man for Governor.

Ex-Mayor Ransdell of Lynn was next speaker. He said:

"What we want in this State is a man in the office of Governor who stands as true as steel for the principles of the declaration of Independence, a man who would not hesitate to call a spade a spade and who would have legislation enacted into law taking from the judiciary of the Commonwealth the right to issue injunctions against peaceful workingmen who are on strike.

"Thomas L. Hisgen is a type of man who knows what it is to carry on a successful business. He knows the needs of the masses of the people and would not hesitate to sign bills which would militate against public service corporations.

"He is a champion of the rights of the people and would not allow, were he your Governor, any measure to get by which would be injurious to workingmen as our former Governors have done.

A Vote Against Trusts.

"The small baby when it comes into the world feels the pinch of the trusts. When the child grows to manhood he still feels the power of the trusts, and when he becomes old and gray and is standing on the brink of the grave he still feels the trusts.

"Milk, which is of so much service to the toddling youngster, is so high that the poor mother cannot afford to buy it. At school, later on in life, this same child feels the effect of the look and his trust.

"A vote for Hisgen is protest against trusts and discriminations."

FIVE WOMEN LOST IN SWAMP

COULTHURST IS LEAGUE CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

Deserts Democratic Party to Take Up Fight of Independents.

John A. Coulthurst of Ward 23 was unanimously indorsed as candidate for Mayor by the City Committee of the Boston Independence League at a rousing meeting last night. In a brief but forceful speech Mr. Coulthurst accepted the nomination. The meeting was held in the Old South building. Sixty-five members of the committee were present.

When the question of considering the Mayoralty arose Mr. Coulthurst's name was suggested. L. W. E. Kimball, who had been favored as a candidate for the nomination by a large element of the committee, heartily indorsed the suggestion and urged that the indorsement of Mr. Coulthurst be made unanimous, stating that in every particular, under present conditions, he would make an ideal candidate.

Loud Cheers for Candidate.

John A. Keamey of Ward 23 and John A. Dobbyn of Ward 15 spoke strongly in favor of Mr. Coulthurst. The motion to endorse was unanimous, and a committee of five was appointed to escort him before the meeting.

Their arrival was the signal for great enthusiasm. He was given three lusty cheers and a tiger. Then Chairman Bolger T. Allen of the Independence League City Committee.

His address was enthusiastically received and frequently punctuated with outbursts of applause. After telling the committee that his resignation as secretary of the Democratic State Committee would be received by the officials of that organization to-morrow he said in part:

Mr. Coulthurst's Platform.

"I understand that my indorsement by this body as a candidate for Mayor has been unanimous and I wish to thank you one and all. I realize the great responsibilities that will come to me in leading the Independence League in its first Mayoralty canvass, and I promise you that from this time forth I shall dedicate myself to the cause of good government in Boston."

At the conclusion of his speech a motion giving Mr. Coulthurst unanimous indorsement was repeated and passed amid great cheering. Mr. Coulthurst then thanked for coming before the committee and a motion was passed that every member of the committee be at his disposal to work under his advice and suggestions till the closing of the polls on election day.

People Ripe for New Party.

At this juncture Mr. Coulthurst submitted to the committee the following statement as an expression of his views and the platform upon which he intended to go before the people of Boston:

I wish to announce my candidacy for the office of Mayor of Boston, and I will seek the nomination of the Independence League and such other nominations and endorsements as may be forthcoming.

My candidacy is based upon the expectation that the people of Boston are ripe for a non-partisan administration of the city's affairs and my appeal to the voters shall be made on a non-partisan, municipal-reform platform.

It now seems certain that the Democratic and Republican parties will nominate partisan candidates, and experience has shown the people of Boston that there is not much difference between a partisan Democratic Mayor and a partisan Republican Mayor.

Cause of Extravagance.

Under all recent administrations appointments to public office within the control of the Mayor have been made generally, and contracts for public work and supplies have been given, to a considerable extent, as rewards for political services rendered or to be rendered.

This partisanship in administering municipal affairs has been to my mind the fundamental weakness and the prime cause of extravagance in the expenditure of public moneys in the present administration and its immediate predecessors.

There is, however, no reason why municipal affairs should not be run upon the same business principles as large business enterprises, and there is no reason why Democracy or Republicanism should be an issue in the election of the chief executive of the municipal corporation.

The sole issue that I shall raise in the campaign is that of municipal reform. All other issues, political, shall be relegated to the background.

No Reward Offered.

If elected Mayor, I pledge myself as follows:

First. All official appointments of heads of departments shall be made with an eye only to the qualifications and experience of the applicants and the requirements of the positions to be filled, and no appointment shall be made on account of or as a reward for political services.

Favoritism in public appointments based upon political exigency or upon the political services of the appointees involves a breach of trust and amounts to dishonesty, and I pledge myself to avoid it.

Second. All such appointees shall be held to a strict account for the honest and efficient discharge of their respective duties in accordance with the principles herein laid down.

Third. All subordinate appointments by myself, or by the heads of departments under me, shall be made upon a strictly civil service basis.

Will Do Public Duty.

Fourth. All contracts for public work or supplies, whether large or small, shall be awarded upon a strictly competitive basis.

Fifth. A systematic effort will be made to remove all padding from the pay roll, which may involve a reorganization of every department of municipal administration. For this purpose I will ask advice and co-operation of the Finance Commission and of representative civic business organizations of the city will be sought.

Sixth. I pledge myself not to approve, except in case of extreme emergency, any increase in the municipal debt of the city, and will endeavor to establish a policy looking to its gradual extinguishment.

I cordially ask the co-operation of all public officials and others in my candidacy upon the understanding that such support will be rendered as a public duty and not with the expectation of political reward.

(Signed) JOHN A. COULTHURST.

COULTHURST ALWAYS STAUNCH SUPPORTER OF LABOR MEASURES

John A. Coulthurst is thirty-six years old, and has lived in Boston all his life. He was educated in the public schools of Boston, graduating from the Charles Sumner School in Roslindale in 1885.

He then entered Boston College, from which he graduated in 1892 with honors. After that he entered the Boston University Graduate School of Law, graduating therefrom, receiving the degree of A. M. He entered the Boston University Law School in 1895 and later qualified in the bar examination, ranking very high in the test for fitness.

He has been practicing law ever since.

The people of Ward 23 have honored him by sending him to the lower branch of the Massachusetts Legislature for three successive years, in 1902-03-04. The ward is strongly Republican.

Staunch Friend of Labor.

He was chairman of the executive committee of the Roslindale Five-Cent Fare Improvement Association; was president of the United Improvement Society of Roslindale, an organization made up of twenty-five sectional branches, which fought the gas ade of 1903, granting the outrageous capitalization of the Boston Consolidated Gas Companies, and in co-operation with the Public Franchise League in 1905 fought for ninety-cent gas for Boston.

His record in the State House shows him to have been a staunch supporter of all proper labor legislation and bills in the interest of the people.

James H. Horgan of Ward 17 was unanimously indorsed for street commissioner. He is a well known South Boston business man, being connected with the grocery supply trade. He is a prominent member of many Catholic organizations. His grasp of great public questions qualifies him in every essential manner to look after the interests of the taxpayers in the office of the street commissioners.

No Chemicals for Anty Drudge.

Mrs. Neighbor—"Anty Drudge, I'm sure you must use chemicals in your wash. I've boiled my clothes and rubbed them till my fingers are blistered, but they look yellow beside yours."

Anty Drudge—"No, I didn't use chemicals, nor I didn't boil them nor rub them hard. I used Fels-Naptha in lukewarm water. Fels-Naptha took the dirt out of my clothes while you were rubbing dirt into yours. That makes the difference."

What soap will you use to wash clothes? If you insist on weakening your clothes by boiling them, wearing them out by hard-rubbing, putting up with all the inconveniences of hot fires, nauseous steaming suds and yellow clothes, it doesn't matter which you use.

But if you want to do your washing comfortably, in cold or lukewarm water, without hard work and in half the time—then there is only one soap for you—and that soap is Fels-Naptha.

The reason why is in the different way Fels-Naptha is made. The results speak for themselves. Get Fels-Naptha from your grocer and try it. But be sure and use it the Fels-Naptha way—no hot water. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

Points in the Platform Adopted by Coulthurst

My candidacy is based upon the expectation that the people of Boston are ripe for a non-partisan administration of the city's affairs.

Under all recent administrations appointments and contracts for public works have been made as rewards for political services.

There is no reason why municipal corporations should not be run upon the same principles as large business enterprises.

The sole issue that shall raise in the campaign is that of municipal reform.

If elected I pledge myself that all official appointments will be made with an eye only to the qualifications and experience of the applicant.

I will avoid favoritism in making public appointments.

All appointees will be held to a strict account for an honest and efficient administration of their offices' departments.

All appointments will be made on the civil service basis.

All contracts for public work or supplies shall be awarded upon strictly competitive basis.

A systematic effort will be made to remove all padding from the pay rolls.

I will endeavor to diminish the enormous net debt of the city.

CLINTON MEN HEAR TONIGHT FROM HISGEN

Rousing Meeting Expected in Home Town of Thomas E. Finnerty, Who Will Preside.

There will be one big Independence League rally tonight, Clinton being the favored place. Messrs. Hisgen and Brown will both appear. Thomas E. Finnerty of Clinton, League candidate for State Auditor, will preside.

Equally favored with Clinton, of course, are the nearby towns of Bolton, Berlin, Boylston, West Boylston, Sterling and Lancaster. Large delegations of citizens who think for themselves are expected from these communities.

Hisgen and Brown will get a royal reception from Clinton. The town was among the first to ask for and arranged an Independence League rally. Mr. Hisgen at Hyde Park last night, said to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter:

"It is particularly gratifying to me to be booked in Clinton. In the few weeks of our intimate acquaintanceship I have come to have a high personal regard for Mr. Finnerty, one of my associates on the League ticket, and I am anxious to see and address his townspeople. I am confident that the meeting in Clinton will be one of the most successful of the campaign. I shall not be at all surprised, indeed, if it turns out to be our banner city."

With Mr. Hisgen and the everywhere popular Lieut.-Gov. Lorenzo Frothingham, the Hisgen's blind, but eloquently entertaining, minstrel.

The Clinton workers have overlooked nothing. A brass band has been engaged, and in every other respect, as well, to-night's big Clinton rally of the Independence League will be at least on a par with anything of the sort that Worcester County has known for many years.

A full report of the demonstration, including the more notable speeches, will appear in the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.

COURT STRIKES OUT MRS. GOULD CHARGES

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The appellate division of the Supreme Court has affirmed the decision by Supreme Court Justice Mc-Call, which struck out scandalous charges stricken from the complaint of Mrs. Katherine Clemmons Gould in the divorce brought against her husband, Howard Gould, for separation.

These passages related to charges by Mrs. Gould that her husband had associated with various women, and that he had ordered the superintendent of his estate to open her mail.

AIDS WIFE TO JOIN AFFINITY IN THE WEST

This Carpenter's Startling Renunciation Even Outdoes Artist Earle.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct. 26.—More amazing than the renunciation of Mrs. Frederick Earle has been that of Wallace Miller, carpenter, of 20 Lander avenue, in this city.

After striving by kindness and argument by five years to dissuade his wife from going West to join her affinity in Salt Lake City, he reluctantly agreed to her departure, sold their household effects to provide her with funds for the trip and accompanied her and a son, who went with her, to a railroad station.

No "artistic temperament" pices an excuse for this peculiar situation. The departure of the woman is the climax of a love affair which began twenty years ago in the village of Pine Bush, N. Y., where lived Miller, Charles Cooper and Cyrus Wells. Physicians from various childhood, and the pair married when they were teens. With his eleven-year-old daughter and a son a little older in his home, desolate now, clinging to the hope that before his wife reaches Salt Lake City she will repent and return to him.

"There," he says, "I must go to some new place and start anew. For the sake of my children I will do anything. I will not, could not say a word against my wife."

BACON REFUSES AMBASSADORSHIP

Aged Greenfield Man Says Miss Conaty, 25, Promised She Would Marry Him.

GREENFIELD, Oct. 26.—Claiming that by fraudulently pretending she loved him and would become his wife, Miss Fanny E. Conaty, aged twenty-five years, induced him, secured from him property valued at $17,000, James Allison, aged eighty-seven years, by his next friend, has filed a bill in equity asking the court to order the return of the property. It is alleged that on account of his advanced age and condition Mr. Robinson was incapable of handling his affairs. He asks for a temporary injunction restraining the young woman from making any transfer of the property. Mr. Robinson was married October 6 to a young woman from Brighton and they purchased a home here, living at No. 7 Ingleside avenue, Chelsea.

It is alleged in the transfer to Miss Conaty took place a year or more ago, but Mr. Robinson, it is claimed, before Mr. Robinson became of unsound mind, even if he is in that condition to-day. Thomas White, who as next friend of Mr. Robinson has filed the suit, also has a petition in the Probate Court for appointment as Mr. Robinson's conservator.

SPRINGFIELD TEAM EASY PICKING FOR HARVARD

The Line-Up.

HARVARD.		SPRINGFIELD.
Mackenzie,	l. e.	Bailey
Burr,	l. t.	Hollis
Hoar or Fabor,	l. g.	Cooney
Nourse,	c.	Hoover
Porter,	r. g.	Howard
Fincke,	r. t.	Hollis
Bird,	r. e.	Cooney
Starr,	q. b.	Hoar
Reed,	l. h.	Hoar
Reed,	r. h.	Hoar
Ambrose,	f. b.	Jones

Harvard has no fear of the outcome of the gridiron contest with Springfield Training School this afternoon, and interest exists mostly in the probable size of the score the Crimson will run up.

It was only three weeks ago that Yale defeated the visitors, 18 to 0, and there is no question that Harvard will endeavor to increase the size of that score. Unless Harvard should overwhelmingly defeat the Springfield team the game will hardly afford a chance for comparison with Yale, as three weeks time make a lot of difference in the development of a college eleven.

The Harvard men have indulged in some of the hardest practice of the season the past few days, not particularly for the game to-day as for those coming now in quick succession, and the playing will come in for closer inspection this afternoon to see if there are any indications of unusual latent strength which has heretofore been missing.

Springfield has hopes of scoring and to make the score smaller than it was a year ago. The team was due to arrive in the Hub at noon.

One big loss to the visitors will be the absence of Rice, the regular fullback, who has made a reputation in breaking opposing rush lines this year.

Captain Parker may not be seen in the Crimson lineup as he has a wrenched back and also is laboring with a heavy cold. He may get into the game for a few minutes, but Grant will have the chances.

Phil Lockwood will be out of the game as his injured ankle does not yet permit of his playing. Pat Grant, who has looked a fixture at center, will be started and his place given to Nourse, till now the second string center.

Springfield has a weak line, and Harvard hopes to tear big holes in it. The Springfield backs are very fast, but the line is too light to hold Harvard.

ELIS HAVE SOFT THING IN GAME WITH VILLA NOVA TEAM

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 26.—Yale's game against Villa Nova today will be one of an experimental character, as the coaches intend trying out some new athletes both in plays and changing the positions of the players.

The fact that Coogey was relegated to the second team goes to prove that no player is sure of his position and will have to make good.

The Elis are counting on an easy victim in Villa Nova, as there is little doubt that the score will be large.

TIGERS WILL FIND TOUGH ANTAGONIST IN CORNELL

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 26.—With the odds two to one in their favor the Princeton Tigers felt confident of putting it on Cornell in the annual game to-day. Cornell realizes that the Tigers hold the commanding position in the eyes of the football critics this season, but notwithstanding the reputation of Old Nassau the home team is full of courage for the fray.

INDIANS EXPECT TO BEAT OLD PENNSY AGAIN

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—There is much fear and trembling in old Pennsy's camp to-day, as the wily Carlisle Indians are on the warpath with expectations of getting another big victory similar to that of last year and will be hard to stop. The Redskins have been drilled in tricky plays for the past week in anticipation of trying them on the Quakers, and a good six sized scalping is expected.

Wu du hud yo ugwa ho ugwa sura, the strongest front against the Indians and wipe out the sting of last year's defeat, the constant shifts lately in the lineup has lessened the team play.

HARD TO PICK A WINNER

The show at the Cooper Social and Athletic Club next Monday night should prove an interesting one from the start to the finish. In the main bout, twelve rounds to a decision, Billy Glover of South Boston is to face Dave Deshler of Cambridge. It is believed by the sports of the Peninsula district that Glover will win decisively, and if he does then he will be matched against Young Donahue of Roxbury.

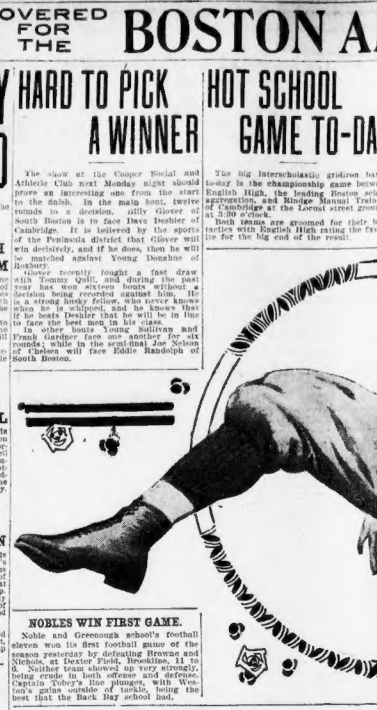
Glover recently fought a fast draw with Tommy Quill, and during the past year has won eleven bouts out of a decision being recorded against him. He is a strong husky fellow, but never knows when he is whipped, and he knows that if he beats Deshler that he will be in line to face the best men in his class.

In other bouts Young Sullivan and Frank Gardner face one another for six rounds; while Jack Coleman, the Nonotuck of Chelsea will face Eddie Randolph of South Boston.

HOT SCHOOL GAME TO-DAY

The big interscholastic gridiron battle to-day in the championship game between English High, the leading Boston school aggregation, and Rindge Manual Training of Cambridge at the Locust street grounds at 2:30 o'clock.

Both teams are groomed for their hard tackles with English High rating the favorite for the big end of the result.



NOBLES WIN FIRST GAME.

Noble and Greenough school's football eleven won its first football game of the season yesterday by defeating Brewster and Nichols, at Dexter Field, Brookline, 11 to 6. Neither team showed up very strongly, being crude in both offense and defense. Captain Tobey's fine plunges, with Weston's gains outside of tackle, being the best that the Back Bay school had.

CHARMS FOR THE CUBS.

The members of the world's champion Cubs have agreed on the emblem to commemorate their championship victory. They have decided on watch charms similar to those given them two years ago for winning the championship of Chicago. It was unofficially reported yesterday that not a single Cub suggested cuff buttons.

The medal will be made of solid gold, with a bear on one side holding a diamond with a bear on one side holding a diamond between his teeth. On the other side will be the name of the player and the date of the winning of the world's championship.

COE WINS FOR B. A. A. AT GOTHAM

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Hub athletes were not entirely eliminated in the National Indoor track and field meet last night, as W. W. Coe won putting the eight-pound shot, and Gidney, also of the B. A. A., got second in the high jump. Porter, who beat Gidney, had to go six feet one and one-eighth inches, as Gidney leaped six feet one-half an inch.

Coe also figured in throwing the fifty-six pound weight, getting third to such stars as Mitchell and McGrath.

Only one record was smashed and that came in the pole vault for distance, Martin Sheridan, the all-round champion, did twenty-eight feet, breaking the previous record by two and three-quarters inches.

Tommy Conlin, the North Boston jumper, succeeded in getting a third in the hop, step and jump, being only a foot behind the winner.

AMHERST SAYS DARTMOUTH MEN INELIGIBLE

AMHERST, Oct. 26.—According to a statement made by a member of the athletic committee of Amherst College, three players of the Dartmouth football eleven, which meets Amherst here to-day, are considered by Amherst ineligible to represent Dartmouth in an intercollegiate contest. Marks, the Dartmouth fullback, and Paxton and Hawley of the same line are the men mentioned. It is understood that no action will be taken in the matter and no formal protest will be made.

The matter of eligibility came up at a meeting of the athletic committee early in the week. It is claimed that Amherst has evidence that Marks played full-back for North Dakota Agricultural College last year, and that both Paxton and Howley were at Minnesota, the latter a member of the gymnasium team. The matter of the eligibility of these men was discussed at some length, but the committee finally decided to take no action, leaving the matter in Dartmouth's hands.

NO LAWRENCE BOUT.

The boxing bout between Kid Pantz and Young Kloisey scheduled for Lawrence last night was declared off owing to a light attendance.

GREAT THRONGS AT MOTOR SHOW

By J. C. Kerrison.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—While New York is at fever heat over the conditions of the money and stock markets, the interest in the motor show at the Grand Central Palace is phenomenally great. One would naturally think that motors would have no charm or attraction for the men whose every interest is locked up in those two great markets, and yet so strong a hold has the motor secured on the moneyed men that even great fluctuations in stock values has seemingly made no great inroads.

The early attendance to-day was as great if not greater than during the early hours of any day of preceding years. Yesterday afternoon, immediately upon the close of the exchange, many of the leading financiers were noted in the hall. The actual, bona fide sales of cars, while not yet great, are in keeping with previous history.

The New York exhibits have never been known as great retail expositions; they serve in the main been considered as the place where local agencies were "tied up;" the place where the local dealers have come to see, be seen and decide as to what cars they shall carry during the approaching season, and the present show is no exception to the rule. Buyers and dealers are here from all over the country, closing contracts for the approaching season.

General Miles a Visitor.

Not only are dealers here, but many prominent persons from all sections are to be seen in and around the show. General Nelson A. Miles, who while at the head of the United States army, was a firm believer in the army motorcycle, was looking over the models with a critical eye, and later inspected the display of bicycles made by the Aero Club. In this department are to be found the novelties and in some few cases the very balloons which competed in the recent race.

One of the most interested visitors to this section was Colonel Charles Caswell, I. G. S. A. P., of the M. V. M., who has a slight attack of "aerial" fever. He looked the models over thoroughly, secured more or less data, and in the main not be at all surprising if within the next year the colonel was the possessor, even from his Pride's Crossing estate, Colonel R. W. M. Bailey, also of the M. V. M., was in company with the inspector of small arms practice, and while he is fond of in aerial navigation, his real interest seemed to be centered in the electric touring car guaranteed to travel 100 miles on a single charging. Colonel Bailey had the remarks of a gasoline touring car, and is, to say the least an attractive proposition, in the cars displayed there is to be seen every possible variation in former shows. Beautifully polished chassis are to be seen on every side, and a greater proportion of automobiles manufactured than ever before are using this method of displaying the mechanism of their cars. In some instances where no chassis is exhibited, an engine built for exhibition purposes, and in a frame to facilitate examination of these parts is displayed, partially dismembering a complete vehicle.

Two Independent Shows.

Two of the cars which are to be found in this exhibit, the Berliet and the Rambler, have shows of their own. The former will be found at the Plaza annex, and the latter at the local branch on West Sixty-second street, and in both are being patronized.

High proportions of power to weight, achieved only by the use of high grade materials and skilled workmanship and construction, are characteristics of this years Locomobile, which is on exhibition in Boston, who is at the show, is thoroughly satisfied with the display being made. The exhibit includes 24 to 26 horsepower touring car and a 60 horsepower limousine, the latter being virtually a duplicate of the racer built for the year of 1906 for Vanderbilt. The motor accessories are of a standard high grade, and the factory complement as a whole is extremely simple, compact and accessible. The transmission consists of a conical, leather faced type of clutch, in connection with a selective type of change-speed gear using progressive operation, three drive being used.

Prominent in the Pierce booth is to be found the finished model of the machine in the record trip from Boston to New York and return, and which has had but few wrenches put to any part since that run. The record car makes an attractive exhibition, one of which Boston Manager Henry L. Johnson is decidedly proud.

Now Six-Cylinder Car.

The Premier line has this year been increased by a six-cylinder in a car of this type. The company experiments with six-cylinder motors date back to two years ago, their first trials being made with a 6x6 by 6-inch motor cylinders paired, and with a triple Y manifold for the intake. The results obtained were very satisfactory, and the motor was modified by experience and study in the interim is now making its debut at the show.

The chief departure from the standards formerly adhered to by them is the adoption of the Bosch low-tension magneto, a second system of the high-tension type, using a single coil with distributor and accumulators as an auxiliary, being also installed. The low-tension ignitors are driven from the pinion by spiral bevel gears and are advanced by moving the camshaft longitudinally. As a departure it is to be noted in the use of a pressed steel oil pan under the motor in place of aluminum, as well as in the use of compression grease cups in place of shackles, besides which the car has numerous other features of merit.

More Power in New Rainiers.

Except for the increase in the power which has been made to comply with the current demand, the single model which will be turned out by the Rainier is practically identical with its predecessor, and the cars of this model will be marketed under the same specifications, the aim of guaranteeing them free of repairs for a year.

The car will be known as Model D and will be a 40 horsepower proposition, weighing 2,800 pounds. Simplicity and accessibility of construction are the aims of the designer who has been responsible for the Rainier cars for a few years, and who is now chief engineer at the new plant. The magneto can be opened and replaced in a few moments without disturbing the ignition timing. The cover can be removed by taking out six cap screws without removing the pin from the gearing, and the same is true of practically every part of the car. Drop forgings are used exclusively and all nickel-steel parts are specially heat-treated.

Al Morrison and J. E. Price, the members of the firm of Price and Morrison's car in Boston the coming season are both at the show, the former having discarded one of his crutches and using a cane.

Marmon Cars a Features.

The Marmon cars make a strong feature of the show, their proven ability making them more prominent than ever.

The features characteristic and prominent heretofore in Marmon construction, viz.: the single cylinder, the closed motor, Marmon system of automatic force-feed lubrication through the hollow crank shaft, and the double three-point suspension is in which the power unit is the frame and the body retained for the season of 1908.

There are four models known as Models G and H, the former being a five-passenger touring car, with 40 horsepower and thirty-four by four and one-half inch motor, and the latter, Model H, a seven-passenger car, but has sufficient room in the tonneau for two extra folding seats.

A radical change has been made in the motor by cladding the bends separately, which is an improvement over the old system.

Frank E. Way of Boston, who came over the ponds on Thursday, is always to be found at the Marmon booth.

Landers had the better of the opening round, during which Donahue proved very clever in getting away from leads. Landers was on the aggressive in the second round, but was wild. Donahue got away from Fred's leads and repeatedly came back with stiff punches.

Donahue opened up in the third round, which was filled with fast exchanges. Landers worked hard in the fourth round, and while each got in many left jabs, each showed under 1:35 and caught one at 1:25.

While said the track was the fastest 10-lapper he had ever ridden, and he knew that it will hold a speed of under 1:25 for the motor, and that the riders can follow up to 1:30.

DONAHUE BEATS FRED LANDERS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—The star Boston lightweight, Young Donahue was too clever for Fred Landers of San Francisco, who he met in a six-round bout in Quaker town.

Time after time Donahue blocked or evaded Landers' leads and quickly shot in a right to the Californian's body. Neither man did much damage to his opponent, but the longer the bout progressed the more it became apparent that Donahue was the better boxer.

Landers had the better of the opening round, during which Donahue proved very clever in getting away from leads.

Landers was on the aggressive in the second round, but was wild. Donahue got away from Fred's leads and repeatedly came back with stiff punches.

Donahue opened up in the third round, which was filled with fast exchanges.

Landers worked hard in the fourth round, and while each got in many left jabs, each showed under 1:35 and caught one at 1:25.

While said the track was the fastest 10-lapper he had ever ridden, and he knew that it will hold a speed of under 1:25 for the motor, and that the riders can follow up to 1:30.

BREWERS' NEW MANAGER.

It is understood the Milwaukee club will go into new hands. Although Hyndon still holds the franchise. He has an option on it, and the people say there would like to see Selee and Joe and Jimmy Callahan take hold of it. There is also a report that Joe Cantillon, the Jiggs Donohue of the White Sox to manage the team, is the favorite with the fans of the Cream City.

NEW TRACK VERY SPEEDY

The new bicycle track at Park Square Rink reduced to the core of a speedway for the first time yesterday afternoon. Fred White, who will be one of the pacemakers at the six days' race during the winter, brought over one of the new 6-horsepower machines for a tryout. The motor was new and the track unfamiliar, but White quickly got the hang of both and began to cut loose. A watch on him for several miles showed under 1:35 and caught one at 1:25.

White said the track was the fastest 10-lapper he had ever ridden, and he knew that it will hold a speed of under 1:25 for the motor, and that the riders can follow up to 1:30.

TECH ATHLETES WILL COMPETE

Fast time and close competition will be the rule of the Tech Fall handicap games to-day at Brookline. Many of the stars in the freshman class will come up for the first time, and the team veterans will have a hard job upholding their reputation.

A fine list of entries will appear in the 100-yard dash. Gram, who made the New England intercollegiate record of 10 flat for the 220 of 22 seconds will run from scratch. The fast quarter-miler, Hiscock, will also run. Another most promising entry from the freshman class in this event is W. J. Seligman, the crack sprinter and relay man from Brookline High School.

SCHOOL GAMES TO-DAY.

Dorchester High vs. Boston Latin at Dunlap avenue grounds, Dorchester (Boston High League).

English High vs. Rindge Manual Training at Locust street grounds, Cambridge.

Brookline High vs. Waltham High at Waltham.

Volkmann, Sr., Shiek's at Southboro.

Roxbury Latin vs. St. George School at Newport, R. I.

Mechanic Arts vs. Lawrence High at Lawrence.

Somerville High vs. Braintree High at Somerville.

Cambridge Latin vs. Gloucester High at Gloucester.

Hyde Park High vs. Wellesley High at Wellesley.

Everett High vs. Medford High at Medford (Middlesex League).

Milton Academy vs. Groton at Groton.

Revere High vs. Salem High at Salem.

Needham High vs. John Prince of Boston and Carl Busch, the German heavyweight champion, was declared a draw, no effort was made to gain a fall.

The bout resembled a football scrimmage more than it did a wrestling match. Although several pounds lighter than his opponent, Frank Elwood Bugbee all over the hall, sometimes the men being on the floor, other times being on the feet, the more frequently roughing it among the mats.

KID BARRISH IS AFTER BOUTS

Kid Barrish, the newsboy champion, is not after the boys in his class, and especially Albert Delmont and Freddy O'Brien. He gave O'Brien one of the hardest fights he ever had and should have secured the decision.

Charley Celeste, his manager, is ready to match him at any of the big clubs.

BOUT ENDS IN DRAW

After battling an hour and a half in Arlington Hall last night, the wrestling match between John Prokos of Boston and Carl Busch, the German heavyweight champion, was declared a draw, no effort was made to gain a fall.

The bout resembled a football scrimmage more than it did a wrestling match. Although several pounds lighter than his opponent, Frank Elwood Bugbee all over the hall, sometimes the men being on the floor, other times being on the feet, the more frequently roughing it among the mats.

KELLEY IS NEW MARKET CHAMP IN THE RING

The advent of Jack Kelley in the boxing game has made the marketmen forget all about their former pride, Jerry Gallen. Kelley is the latest to claim the title of "market champion," and the followers of him that surround Faneuil Hall say that he is a performer well away ahead of Jerry. Kelley is to make his debut as a star at the Winnisimmet Athletic Club next Tuesday night with Bill McKinnon of Roxbury.

McKinnon is the boy that walloped all the middleweights in the national championship tournament held at Mechanics Hall last April, and he also cleaned up, during the time he was with the navy in the New England middleweight and heavyweight championships.

The Tiger Athletic Club of South Boston will be well represented among the members of the Winnisimmet Athletic Club Tuesday, for most of them are anxious to see their favorite adopted son defend his prestige. Al Anderson of the South End.

The principals for the main events are reported to be in the best of shape and anxious for the fray. Willie Finley and Kid Parsons do not speak since their memorable combat at Providence, and each says that he will be the champion of South Boston after the show is over.

Ted Russell will be here to-morrow night so as to rest up and be in the best possible shape for Conley, who he has the greatest regard for, which is due no doubt to the wonderfully fast bout that Larry put up against Eddie Chambers in Philadelphia when he beat that clever boxer.

WORCESTER WINS CLASS B.

The ninth game in the Class B. New England Amateur Golf Championship was played last night at the Imperial Billiard Room, between Norraw and Worcester. Norraw was the winner by the score of 209 to 123.

KAUFMAN MAY TRY LUCK IN THE ENGLISH RING

BY TAD.

Billy Delaney and Al. Kaufman may be the next pair to beat it to the British Isles, if dope counts for much right. Billy wrote to Tom O'Rourke in London a week ago asking how things were, and if a favorable reply came back the old-time pair will take his new champ over to meet either Gunner Moir or Joe Rogers.

"I see that Burns intends going over," said Delaney yesterday in speaking of the proposed trip. "but if he wants to make money with the Englishmen he can beat Kaufman first and then declare himself the best white man we have over here.

"Kaufman beat Schreck, who beat Burns, you know, and nothing would please me better than to have Al meet Burns. I thought after we beat Schreck out there that Tommy would fight, but he wants to parade on his win over Squires and play champion.

"I don't want to hound Burns or anything like that, but I think that when he lands here in New York and sees Jack Johnson waiting for him he'll be forced to fight us or stop his bragging. Al will beat him as sure as I'm sitting here, and I think he will beat every one of the others in time, too.

"Yes, I mean to fight Johnson, too. We won't draw the color line or anything like that, you know. Al a few years' experience and some more big fights and I'll take on Johnson for the championship."

It wrote to Jack Curley, of Chicago, a week ago to get me Willie Hart or Schreck, but none of them could come here yet. We were offered a fight with Sandy Ferguson, too, but then Sandy is no card, and it would mean going to Butte to fight him.

"Jack O'Brien wrote Bob Dendy last week to get him a fight with anybody in the world. We offered to take him on, but in the meantime O'Brien has signed up with some theatrical company and will be busy for a few months yet. I think O'Brien will draw.

"It didn't hurt Gans any to confess his fake fight with Britt, and I think that after Gibbons's confession the public will believe him when he says he will go on the level.

"Landers? Yes, he beat Fitzgerald every way a man could, but you can't say his decision in Philadelphia unless you knock a man out. He practically made Fitzgerald look foolish there at times. Fitz took about seven jabs on the nose, then swung his right to drop Fred, but it never came within a foot of him. I'm going to get Adam Ryer or Joe Gulligan for him now, and if Lean will get this Memsie fellow after that."

* * *

Rather queer that Joe Gans should hand over his title to George Memsie, who admits that he cannot do 133 pounds ringside, which is the lightweight limit.

Memsie is a fine boy, and a real sport, too, but then Sandy is no card, and it would mean going to Butte to fight him.

NAVY OFFICIALS AT GAME.

At the invitation of Henry F. Thompson of the Harvard A. A., the officers and men of the United States battleships Missouri, Illinois and New Jersey, will attend the football game between Harvard and Springfield Training School at the Stadium this afternoon as guests of the Harvard A. A. The governing board of Harvard will entertain the guests at the Harvard Union directly after the game.

NOTES OF THE HARNESS HORSES

John Wall, who has trained horses in front at Empire last Summer. The trouble was a fracture of the shoulder-bone in his off hind leg.

Wall has brought home over $11,000 from Lexington, and this in face of the fact that the opening week was nothing short of disastrous for the local candidates.

Having the last season fifteen records have earned records from 2.04½ to 2.09¾, which leaves plainly in view the fact that he improved to a high degree in the races in order to earn expenses, even.

It has been announced that the entries for the South Boston followers of Ralph Wick this year will be Ellen Rice, 2.07¼, and the 2.24 stallion Alley Rice.

Ellen is the fifth Rice Hal (2), 2.15¾, to Russia cow, but it is not the owner intends sending him back to Tice in 1910 for another trip down the Grand Circuit.

Bob Foster has a green trotter named Nevell Ib, and a yearling colt by Achille, that he thinks pretty well of for the work they have had.

Hedgewood Boy, 2.04¾, and Lady Maud C., 2.04¾, are not the only brother and sister performers with fast records, as Hal B., 2.04¾, and Jessy Bulard, 2.08¾, are brother and sister, and their records equate a fraction of a second faster than the first named.

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

ROXBURY STORAGE SALESROOMS WHERE PIANOS ARE SACRIFICED

Fighting the Piano Trust

The name "Piano Trust" sounds big-looks powerful and frightful. A good many small piano dealers, They shouldn't dare to do business. They shouldn't dare to put on the latest styles, or anything higher grade than cheap, plodding and actually frightening their prices, and have been shipping the Big Piano Trust representatives to Boston by the dozen. They have been making no money doing it, but we are still in the ring, selling the world-wide make of high-grade pianos, which are the best known to the trade and the big Piano Trust users.

Such a surprising lot is supposed to be, for high grade, low grade or middle grade, and it is only by the most careful examination that one can tell the difference between the top grade pianos and those of less. The selling price is the same, and we have adopted the plan of "Easiest payment-plan basis and is figured to suit the convenience of every home. Interest must be paid, but we make no charge for the time taken. Some piano stores charge exorbitantly for this privilege, and have been guilty of sacrifices. Brenner's loss is your gain.

What Are YOU Going to Do About It?

It Makes Little Difference to Mellen Which of the Old Party Tickets You Vote — He Wins Either Way.

Charles S. Mellen, of Connecticut, says that if he voted in Massachusetts he would vote for Guild.

He likes Whitney, but he prefers Guild.

If EITHER Guild or Whitney is elected Mellen will be satisfied.

Mellen apparently has full confidence that either Guild or Whitney will appoint judges and railroad commissioners satisfactory to the New Haven road.

He knows that Guild will sign the merger bill. IF HE DOESN'T EXPECT GUILD TO PERMIT THE MERGER, WHY DOES HE SAY HE WOULD VOTE FOR GUILD FOR GOVERNOR?

But then, Mellen wouldn't be disappointed to see WHITNEY Governor—Whitney, also, is Mellen's kind of a man. Whitney turned his Boston & Maine stock over to Mellen to bring about the merger.

Whitney has helped form Trusts before. His name has been associated oftener with legislative scandals in Massachusetts than that of any other man who ever lived in the State.

If you searched the whole United States you could not find a more typical representative of Trust corruption in politics than Henry M. Whitney.

Imagine seating a man of that kind in the Governor's chair! Just think for a moment of giving HIM the power to APPOINT JUDGES and RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS!

What are you going to do about it, fellow-citizens?

You might as well vote to seat the New Haven road's own lawyers on the bench and to place New Haven lobbyists on the Railroad Commission as to vote this year for the candidates of EITHER of the old parties.

Is Mr. Hisgen Sincere?

Ask His Neighbors

A certain Boston business man said to a reporter from this newspaper yesterday:

> I am going to vote for Hisgen for Governor. I have been a Democrat for twenty years, but this year I am going to vote for Hisgen because I am tired of letting the trusts gobble up everything, and I am sick and disgusted with the party management that produces such a thing as the Springfield convention.
>
> Tell me this, though, about Hisgen. Is he really in earnest? Is he making a straight fight against the Standard Oil Company? I have read how the Standard puts bogus rivals in the field to give an appearance of competition. Hisgen isn't one of those fake oil fighters, is he?

The reporter of whom these questions were asked has the pleasure of knowing Mr. Hisgen, and he did his best to convince the business man that the Springfield oil dealer who is running for Governor is not a "fake fighter."

We wish all of our readers could meet Mr. Hisgen face to face and see for themselves what kind of a man he is.

Some of them can do this. There are still several days before election, and every night Mr. Hisgen will appear on some public platform.

Those of our readers who CAN do so should make a point of seeing him. He is not an orator; he doesn't make a great speech, but he has something IMPORTANT to say.

We believe that every one who sees and hears him will come away impressed, as we are, with the feeling that Hisgen's simple honesty and rugged common sense are worth a hundred times more in the Governor's chair than are all the arts of the practiced orator and the professional politician.

THOMAS L. HISGEN.

As many of our readers cannot satisfy themselves of Mr. Hisgen's sincerity by seeing him in person, we print here a small photograph of him, showing him as he looks in every-day life, and we are going to tell them briefly the kind of a man he is.

He is about 44 years old. He is stockily built. He has blue eyes and a ruddy complexion.

He was born on a farm a few miles from the State line that separates New York and Massachusetts. His father was of German birth and his mother was Irish. He inherited the fighting qualities of both races, as you will notice by studying his jaw.

He never wastes words. He goes straight to the point. He is a successful business man. He sells oil at wholesale, in opposition to the Standard Oil Company, and HIS CUSTOMERS PAY HIM MORE FOR HIS OIL THAN THEY WOULD HAVE TO PAY TO GET THE SAME QUALITY OF OIL FROM THE TRUST.

Therein is told the whole story of Hisgen's fight against the Standard Oil Company. The Trust sells oil in Western Massachusetts for, say, nine cents a gallon, and sells the same oil in Boston, Worcester and elsewhere for fifteen cents.

The retail oil dealers of Western Massachusetts know that the Trust cuts its price to them IN ORDER TO DRIVE OUT HISGEN, and they refuse to buy from the Trust.

On some occasions Standard Oil agents have even GIVEN AWAY oil in the hope of driving the Hisgen brothers out of business.

That shows what Mr. Hisgen's neighbors and what the storekeepers of Western Massachusetts think about him.

They KNOW him. They know he is SINCERE, or they wouldn't pay him more for oil than they could get it for from the Trust.

Diary of a College President

By C. B. Quincy

NOW that Harvard has 2,000 acres of woods for the study of forestry and Princeton a lake for the study of rowing, it's up to me to get busy.

Good luck. Rockernegie was easy. I got 5,000 acres of canebrake from him for the study of bear hunting, and President Roosevelt has consented to open our new acquisition with a shot at the first bear we can obtain. Astorbilt came across with a range of mountains to-day, and our mountaineering course for the sons of millionaires will now be unexcelled.

Twenty Swiss guides will be added to the faculty, and I hope by hard work to get enough money to make ours an ideal climbing course.

My idea is to fashion each peak after some well-known hazard, such as the Matterhorn. Thus our students will have an example of every kind in one range.

Got a fine ocean yesterday. Our course in steam yachting will be the foremost in the country.

Our new continent is a wonder. Courses in exploring and big game shooting, also in civilizing the natives, will be formed at once. Other colleges madly jealous. I am now trying to get a planet or a sun for practical astronomy.

BERLIN — Great rejoicing is manifested over the victory of the German balloon in the International race. It is pointed out that a German doesn't easily go up in the air, but when once up he's a long time coming down.

* * *

WASHINGTON—Cable dispatches from Europe report that the Czar, the Kaiser and King Edward will go on vacations, now that President Roosevelt is back in Washington to look after things.

* * *

ST. LOUIS—The dirigible balloon race proved a great success, the fourteen balloons going in fourteen directions, proving that the airships will go in any direction. A movement is on foot to have aeronauts carry talcum powder as ballast instead of sand, many pedestrians having objected to a sandy shower bath from the skies.

* * *

NASHVILLE—"Loeb did it," said President Roosevelt to-day.

* * *

PORTLAND, Ore.—Senator Bourne having offered $1,000 for the best essay giving reasons why President Roosevelt should have a third term, he is swamped with such letters bearing Stamboul and other Southern postmarks. The handwriting on most of them appears to be that of Loeb.

* * *

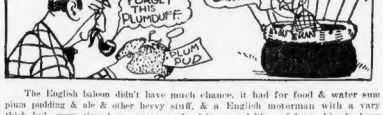
CINCINNATI—As a Christmas surprise a Cincinnati stocking will contain a $2,500 balloon. It's only in Cincinnati that stockings will hold balloons.

Bobbie's Essays

By William F. Kirk

I NOTIS in the paipers that sum big baloons had a chanse to sail through the air to see wich was the longest off the ground, thare was three Yankee baloons, three German or Dutch baloons, two French baloons & one English baloon, all the best & noablest baloons that ever played leep frog with the clouds.

In this race, wich was run in the air, the German baloons had a pritty good chanse beekaus thay did not carry much veight, the food & water in the German baloons was pretzels & beer, pretzels is full of holes & beer is full of foam, so that aint very hevy. The French baloons had sum chanse too, beekaus they had lots of shampane, that is the lightest & most floating stuff next to gas, also the French is small peepul & full of hot air, like Mister Count Castalons etc.



The English baloon didn't have much chanse, it had for food & water sum plum pudding & ale & other hevvy stuff, & a English motorman with a vary thick hed, every time he cums to a cloud it seemed like a joke to him beekaus he couldn't see through it. But the Yankee baloons, carrying our deer Stars & Stripes, them is the baloons that skim through the air all the way to Canada & are the first ones to reech thare goal in the top of sum Canadian tree, thay fly as fast as the grate American Eagle, wich wiggles its wings sum.

My Pa helped me to maik a book, the teecher sed Maik up a litted book for tomorrow, Bobbie, & tell all you know about the baloons & how they finish. My Pa sed Let me maik the book, Bobbie, give me yure slate & I will fix it. So I give my Pa the slate & this is what he wrote,

Yankee baloons	1 to 2
German baloons	2 to 1
French baloons	4 to 1
English baloons	100 to 1

Of course, my Pa told me, you must remember that these figgers is not based on past performances beekaus this is thare first time out, also if the track is muddy, Pa sed, & the rain is failing, look out for the Germans, thay will hang in the air longer than the others, Pa sed. I dont know jest what Pa means, but I guess he is right.

I also see in the paipers that the Swedes is soar beekaus thay cant git in any kind of a race, either in baloons or any other kind, such as a race for the cup, the Swedes is vary nise people, kind to the children & fond of thare boams when they have any boams, but all of them have children, the Swedes want to have sum kind of a boat race with the United States & thay have been ritcing lots of letters to Mister Roosevelt & Mister Taft.

Mister Roosevelts letters is answered by his private secretary, like this, The Swedes write & say Dear Mister President, how about race? and the private secretary rites back to the Swedes & says The President instructs me to say that he has not red yure letter beekaus he is down in deer old Dixie but the last he heard about the race the Chicago Nations's were ahead, yures very truly.

Mister Taft doesnt anser his letters at all, he says to his frends What do you think of those Swedes wanting to race our nobel country for the cup, if thare biggest statsman wants to meet me in the oshun, face to face, we will have a fat mans floating race. Poor Swedes.
